The convention was brought to order at 10 o'clock this morning in the American Legion hall, by John G. Mitchell, consul of Oak camp, of Santa Ana.

Dr. E. T. Dykes, of Oakland, state lecturer of the organization, made a graceful response to the mayor's address.

State Consul M. B. Card, of Pomona, ranking state officer, was given a formal address of welcome by Mayor John W. Tubbs, of Santa Ana.

Mystery Man Found With Big Bank Roll

PASADENA, May 6.—An aged man, his pockets bulging with $100 bills and U. S. treasury notes, was found wandering in the streets of Pasadena today by police.

The man, about 80 years old, was in a daze, and was unable to give a coherent account of himself. He said he thought his name was Frank B. McElroy, and that he came here recently from Guthrie, Ia.

In his possession police found 15 U. S. treasury certificates of $1000 each, three checks on Omaha, and Gregory, S. D., banks totaling $688, and a roll of $100 bills three inches thick.

"It's mine, but I don't know where I got it," was all that he would say. "I don't know where I live, but I have been in Colorado Springs and Omaha, and I think I have some relatives in Guthrie, Ia."

DUTY LEVIED ON FLAG GIFT STIRS HOSTS

Customs Officials' Action Toward British Delegates Angers U. S. Ad Men

TARIFF OF $12 IS PAID English Return Courtesy To America and Are Offended In New York

NEW YORK, May 6.—The truth of this story is vouched for by the best people, and then there is the receipt for $12 as additional evidence. It will be recalled that, when American advertising men went to England last year for the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, the New York delegation carried flags which were presented to the city of New York. There was an American flag, the flag of New York state and the flag of New York city.

The Duke of York and other dignitaries received the delegation with elaborate ceremony. There were speeches and exchanges of felicitations, hands plucked and the visiting delegates rode in open-faced hacks to the lord mayor's residence where "a large time was had by all." The flags were accepted by the city of New York and placed with reverence in the city hall.

British Flag to U. S.

This year, the advertising men of the world are meeting at Houston, Tex. Desiring to return the courtesy of the Americans, a British delegation arrived, bringing a large British flag to be presented to the city of Houston.

At this point, any similarity between the arrivals ceases. Instead of reverent hands of grateful dignitaries receiving the gift flag, it was promptly met by the customs officials.

Britishers bearing gifts meant nothing to the authorities, whose recent success at confiscating an apple and an orange which a young miss of six summers from Des Moines was attempting to bring into the country will be recalled.

With diligent courtesy, the British guests explained that the flag was to be a gift and was not for sale. With heated indignation, their American hosts protested to the customs authorities.

Duty on Flag Is $12

The Britishers were advised that the duty on the flag was $12. So the $12 was forthcoming and the visitors got their flag back.

When American advertising men awoke to a complete realization of the affair, they dashed to the customs house and demanded that at least the Britishers be given back their $12.

The dispassionate reply was that the $12 was in the till, as duty paid on one British flag, and that only an act of congress could get it out.

The British delegation has the flag and is leaving tonight for Houston.

Ex-Governor Must Stand Trial

TOPEKA, Kans., May 6.—A motion by defense attorneys to quash the information on which former Gov. Jonathan M. Davis is to be tried next week on charges of having solicited a bribe for issuance of a pardon, was overruled by Judge James A. McClure here today.

Counsel for Davis argued that the complaint against Davis was faulty, in that it was not sufficiently specific in the charges; that it attempted to charge several crimes in one act, and that it did not set out specific acts that would constitute the solicitation of a bribe.

Davis is scheduled to go on trial next Monday.

REPORT $500 ACRE PAID AS LEASE BONUS

Coalinga Oil Concern Said To Have Tract on Wilson Street, Near Costa Mesa

PLAN TO DRILL SOON Long Beach Operators Are Negotiating For Land; Owners Get Many Offers

BONUS of $500 an acre was paid for a lease of five and one-half acres of land on Wilson street, west of Costa Mesa, by a Coalinga oil company, name of which could not be learned, it was reported today. W. S. Clark is claimed to be one of three property owners interested in the lease. The names of the two other owners could not be learned.

Work will start on the erection of a rig on the lease procured by this company within 90 days, it is claimed. Reports were also being circulated that the Milley Keck Oil company has a small lease on Wilson street.

Oil conditions today continued to keep residents of Costa Mesa in a state of excitement. Offers for leases are being made, but owners have become cautious and are only signing leases after careful investigation. The $500-an-acre bonus is by far the largest bonus which has been offered in the field. The Julian and Wilshire oil companies, which secured leases in the westerly section of town, are reported to have paid a bonus of $150 an acre, but until yesterday no higher deals had been actually closed.

Several offers of $200 an acre, and a few of $500 an acre have been rumored, however.

Several new companies have started negotiations to procure leases in the local field. A small group of Long Beach individual operators was reported yesterday to be looking for a small lease. They desire a piece of property on which they can drill immediately, it was said. The Garner Oil company, of Long Beach, is another concern which has made advances to various property owners in the town for small leases.

One oil company is said to have refused to purchase outright a tract of highly improved land consisting of 24 lots, from N. O. Mellot of Costa Mesa, who asked $30,000 for the land. It was at first reported that Mellot had refused an offer of $30,000 for a five-acre tract. The same company which asked for a price on the land is said to have made a tentative offer to Mellot for the land with a bonus of $240 an acre promised.

Work is expected to begin this week on the erection of the Rosenberg oil company's rigs on two leases. One well will be placed on the community lease, and the other will be on the lease secured from the Interstate Oil company, it is said.

Two Families Claim Body Of Slain Girl

GARY, Ind., May 6.—An inquest was opened today by Coroner A. G. Dobbins, of Porter county, to determine "finally" whether the young woman, whose burned and dismembered body was found on a lonely road near Chesterton, Ind., more than a week ago was Mrs. Josephine Desiderio of Gary, or Mrs. Mary Berg, Michigan City.

Both women are missing and relatives of both claim they have positively identified the victim.

Parents of Mrs. Desiderio yesterday prepared for the funeral, assembling for the funeral, but when the family claimed the body, Coroner Dobbins said they must await the outcome of the inquest.

20 HURT AS FIRE SWEEPS CITY BLOCK

Nitro-Glycerin Blast In Pennsylvania Rocks Entire Swissvale District

DAMAGE IS $500,000

Many Leap From Windows To Safety When Flames Envelop Four Buildings

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 6.—Trapped in their homes, eight persons were killed early today in a terrific bomb explosion that leveled four buildings in the heart of South Swissvale's business district.

More than a score of persons were injured in the blast and fire which followed. The blast shook the entire Swissvale district and shattered windows in dwellings for blocks around.

The persons killed were trapped in their beds. A score of others leaped from windows to safety as the fire spread.

Explosion in Fruit Store

The explosion occurred in a fruit store owned by Tony Pusatera. The store crumpled and two buildings adjoining were wrecked.

Flames enveloped the buildings immediately after the blast. The fire was fed from gas from broken mains. Firemen battled for two hours before controlling the fire. Damage from the explosion and fire was estimated at $500,000 by the fire marshal.

The fruit store crumpled like an egg shell when the explosion came and fire quickly spread to the buildings adjoining.

Plead for Rescue

Within a few minutes, the entire block was a roaring inferno. Shrieking women and shouting men hung out of open windows, pleading for rescue. And the din, children could be heard crying.

Firemen ran up extension ladders and carried many trapped persons to safety. Men rushed from the crowded street and caught several children, who were dropped from second-story windows.

County Fire Marshal Piarr, after a preliminary investigation, announced that a nitro-glycerin bomb had been used to wreck the fruit store.

HENRY FORD proposes to apply quantity production to the old maxim "feed the brute." The cause of war lies in "the petty rivalry between dyptic statesmen." So he has hired dieticians wholesale, to study foods, with the hope of teaching people how to eat, and so, by keeping them good-natured, promoting the peace of the world.

Ford, like Bryan, is likely to make a wrong formulation of a right principle. Scientifically, he is probably mistaken in this hasty generalization. The people of the world may need dieting, but scarcely "statesmen." They already have a varied diet, composed of the usual things, and this is exactly what the dieticians say we should all have. If they are "dyspeptic," it is from other causes than food. But in the larger principle, of course he is correct.

The cause, not merely of war, but of the most of the ills of life, is frazzled nerves. If you could keep the world good-natured, you could keep it peaceful and prosperous. But more things than food frazzle nerves. Sleep, for instance, that has been the final decision made in a political national convention can doubt that they are made by men who are literally not composed of meat from lack of sleep? If Ford could make the world's sleep more, he could eat right, and think with his brains instead of with their livers, he could reform the world.

VICE PRESIDENT Dawes' crusade is already bearing fruit. Newspapers everywhere are interviewing senators on the proposed reform in the senate rules, and most of the answers, so far, are favorable. Out among the people, away from the glamor of the senate chamber, any other answer seems absurd.

Between the vice president, whose enemies will concede that he is a good press agent, and the newspapers, who welcome anybody who can start something during the dull season, we shall doubtless have the whole senate polled before long. The result will be won before it is fought.

MISS MacSwiney says she does not need a passport to come to America. Of course not. In the world of dreams, in which she lives, such things are not necessary. She can capture the Irish Free State out of existence, and the fictitious Irish Independent Republic, or in snatching a passport from it out of the air. Once you get the habit of thinking backward, and manufacturing your facts before long, there is no limit of your theories.

THE AUTO did it. Drunkenness, in the pedestrian age, was never more than a minor misdemeanor, and in most states it was not an offense at all unless it was also "disorderly." But now, even the mildest intoxication, while driving an automobile, is a major offense, not only in the law, but in public sentiment.

When a whole nation becomes, in effect, lawless, the ethics of the railroad automatically apply. And that means, "don't drink; or don't drive." The reason America was the first to adopt prohibition was out all in our Puritan tradition. Mostly it was in the fact that we had no automobiles. If the automobiles in the world, if the other nations ever acquire our traffic problem, they will automatically acquire our drink problem also.

ONE STAGE in human development is the "finding out." Most of us have just about reached it. The next and more enlightened one of "finding out" is beyond us. That is the reason we imagine questions of truth or knowledge can be settled by "debating" them. And the most persistent challenges come on precisely the questions which formal debate would least clarify—evolution, vaccination, socialism, and the like. On all of these, hostile partisans might debate until doomsday, and find out exactly nothing. Debate may be the way to win lawsuits, or carry elections. Investigation is the way to ascertain truth.

MRS. SHEPHERD HIDES AS JURY FINDS SHE KNEW OF M'CLINTOCK GERM DEATH

CHICAGO, May 6.—Mrs. Julie Shepherd, involved by a coroner's jury in the deaths of Mrs. Emma McClintock and her son, Billy, will not surrender until agreement is made allowing her bail, Attorney Robert Stoll announced today.

Mrs. Shepherd is in Chicago, but in hiding, and will stay there until bail is arranged, Stoll told police officials.

William D. Shepherd, in jail pending trial on the charge of murdering Billy, his ward, denounced officials for implicating his wife. The jury's verdict also holds Shepherd killed Mrs. McClintock by giving her poison.

"I don't care so much about myself," Shepherd told reporters. "But dragging Mrs. Shepherd into this affair is inexcusable. It's all part of the plot to keep us from getting Billy's estate."

Mrs. Shepherd fled last night when she received word that the coroner's jury had returned a verdict charging her with being an accessory to the alleged murders.

The jury found that: Mrs. McClintock was murdered 16 years ago by means of mercurial poisoning. William McClintock, her son, was murdered last December by the use of typhoid germs. William D. Shepherd administered the mercury to the mother and the typhoid germs to the son. Julie M. Shepherd had guilty knowledge of both crimes. The circumstances surrounding the deaths called for a thorough investigation by a grand jury and the state's attorney.

The jury reported it could not fix responsibility for the death of Dr. Oscar Olson, brother of the chief justice and family physician for the McClintock family.

HOUSTON MAYOR PREPARES PROTEST

HOUSTON, Tex., May 6.—Mayor Oscar Holcombe, of Houston, and other city officials today were planning to protest to President Coolidge against what they consider an affront to the guests of the city of Houston by the customs officials at New York City.

The Houston official family declared that demanding of duty on a British flag that was to be presented to the city calls for an official apology.

Houston officials of the International convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, denounced the action of the customs officials and asserted that in their opinion some minor official had shown poor judgment and a lack of appreciation of what laws are for.

KING'S SISTER STRICKEN

Light Adjusters Require Permits

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—All adjusters of motor vehicle headlights at the 1500 official testing stations throughout the state will hereafter be required to secure licenses from the division of motor vehicles. It was announced today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division.

This move, Marsh said, is part of a general plan to rid the state of incompetent adjusters and is preliminary to another state-wide campaign by traffic officers against glaring headlights.

The licenses will be issued without charge, but the adjuster will be required to satisfy the division as to his qualifications by a written application, Marsh said.

CHILD KILLED AT PLAY

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—Meredith Starbuck, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Starbuck, was killed instantly when a lumber pile under which he was playing collapsed, crushing his head.

MINE OPERATORS OUST FAMILIES OF WORKERS FROM COMPANY HOUSES

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 6.—A new phase in the industrial war between bituminous coal mine operators and miners developed today when agents of the Rosedale Coal company started wholesale eviction of miners' families from company houses near Madsville.

Twenty-three eviction writs were issued and 12 families had been dispossessed by the sheriff today.

The eviction proceedings were instituted some time ago by the Rosedale company. After one case had been tried and decided in favor of the company, counsel for the miners waived preliminary hearings and consented to the same verdict in all the cases.

The miners then carried the case to the circuit court of appeals. A decision of the circuit court, favoring the company, handed down yesterday and dispossessing of the miners' families from their homes was started at once.

Eugene H. Long, counsel for the United Mine Workers, today expressed surprise at the eviction action, declaring he had been led to understand there would be 30 days' suspension of judgment to permit an appeal to the state supreme court.

Long said he would take steps today in an effort to stop the evictions.

Break Ground for Padre Memorial

SANTA CLARA, Calif., May 6.—Ground will be broken here tomorrow afternoon for the $500,000 Knights of Columbus memorial observatory. Harry I. Mulcreavy, San Francisco county clerk, will preside and addresses will be given by several persons, including Father Jerome S. Ricard, whose work as a weather forecaster from sun spots has brought him world fame and caused the Knights of Columbus of the United States to honor him.

CALIFORNIA, May 6.—Menace of floodwaters in the Imperial valley, as a result of a break in the levee near Pescadero dam, had passed today, according to engineers in charge of repair work. The gap, which unloosed a vast amount of water from the Colorado river and flooded a section of railroad right of way, has been completely plugged.

POLICE AFTER ASSERTED GAS BILL REDUCER

Police are continuing their search throughout the city for a man who claims he can reduce gas bills.

Numerous reports recently have been received by the police of a mysterious stranger who tells housewives that he would like to enter their homes and show them how to reduce gas bills. The man has been trailed a number of times, but so far has eluded police.

The stranger "worked" the northeast side of the city yesterday, calling at several houses on Minter, French and Lacy streets.

So far as is known, he has failed to gain entrance anywhere. The man does not represent the gas company here, Jack Hayden, of the Southern Counties Gas company, said today, adding that no house-to-house canvass was being made by his company and that men working for the gas company wear badges and drive to houses in company trucks.

Johnson Owner of Grocery Business

W. Paul Johnson, proprietor of the meat market operated in connection with a grocery store at 303 North Sycamore street, opposite the postoffice, has purchased the grocery department from R. B. Duncan, and today was engaged in making alterations in the room to adapt it to the purposes of a grocery store.

Alterations will be completed in time to permit opening of the new enterprise on Saturday, Johnson stated.

"Everything will be taken" will be the slogan of the store. Johnson has been operator of the meat market for some time and is consolidating the two lines of business and increasing the stock to better accommodate patrons.

"Everything now will be under one management and quick service is assured through the 'help-yourself' policy that will rule," the owner said.

MAN CUTS ARM IN EFFORT TO END HIS LIFE

In a vain effort to carry out a threat he had made several days ago that he would commit suicide, Carl A. Roby, San Francisco, slashed his left arm at the elbow early this morning, and is at the Orange county hospital in a serious condition from loss of blood.

Although his condition was reported as serious, he has rallied since medical attention was given and is expected to live.

Roby was found, bleeding and semi-conscious, on the front porch of the home of L. M. Friend, 1010 South Parton street, at 2:45 a. m. today by the owner of the house, who was attracted to the front door by cries for aid.

Police were called and rushed him to the hospital.

Estranged From Wife

Saturday, Roby left a suitcase, containing clothes and two letters, on the front porch of the home of W. F. Miller, 920 South Parton street. Miller is the father of Roby's wife, from whom he has been separated for the past 18 months.

One of the letters announced that he had decided to commit suicide and stated: "If you will look around early tomorrow morning you will find what is left of me."

Miller notified the police, who did not believe that Roby would carry out his threat. It was not until early today that the family, as well as the police, were convinced that the man had made an attempt to end his life.

Mrs. Miller stated today that Roby had been "snooping" around the house since he left the suitcase, and had been seen in the neighborhood a number of times, hiding behind trees. On one occasion, he was seen peering into the front window of the Miller home, she said.

Estranged from his wife during the last 18 months, Roby had tried to effect a reconciliation several times, and Mrs. Roby had gone to Denver on one occasion. She returned to her parents here, however, according to Mrs. Miller.

Bled For Two Hours

According to the police, Roby cut himself with a knife, which has not been found, while in a newly-constructed garage, across a vacant lot from the Friend home. From dried blood-stains found on the man's clothing, police are of the opinion that he cut himself possibly two hours before he was discovered on the porch of the Friend home.

In the garage, a large pool of blood was found, which indicated that the man had lain there for some time before dragging himself to the Friend house.

Although he severed a vein in his arm, he missed the main artery, it was said, this probably being the only reason he did not die from loss of blood before he was found.

Roby is 36 years of age, and was a former soldier. He has a small daughter living with her mother.

D. of A. R.

With election of officers as the principal business of the afternoon Daughters of the American Revolution held a most interesting meeting last Saturday at the home of Miss Mabel McFadden. Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Regent, Mrs. Charles F. Smith; vice regent, Mrs. Edward M. Blake; recording secretary, Mrs. Holmes; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. M. Sammis; treasurer, Miss Mabel McFadden; registrar, Mrs. George L. H. Ash; historian, Mrs. J. J. Pyle; chaplain, Mrs. Almira Hudson.

Following a short business session the retiring regent, Mrs. Alice Hatch, called attention to several subjects to which public attention has been directed during the past week, subjects which may be classed under the general head of conservation—conservation of trees, water and child health.

In the matter of water conservation, it was suggested that women may help considerably just by being careful not to waste water—water used in washing vegetables and for other domestic purposes is quite suitable for irrigating plants if one will but take the trouble to carry it into the yard. Mrs. Hatch closed her remarks by introducing the theme of the afternoon, "Conservation of American Ideals." In a brief introductory talk she commented on the need for such conservation during the present time of unsettled thought and standards of conduct.

Speaking of the influence of books in this regard she made reference to the fact that each epoch of human history has been characterized by some dominant art form embodying the ideals of the age, stating that many people consider the novel to be the art form which is best suited to reflect the life of the present time.

Miss Mary Harris was called upon to give her views as to American writers who have best represented American life and responded with a very interesting talk after pointing out the fact that a large number of novelists have represented the life of some particular section of our country or dealt with some transitional phase rather than from a national viewpoint.

Mrs. Crookshank called attention to a book entitled "The Genius of America," wherein the writer, Stewart P. Sherman, discusses traditional American ideals. Through a group of essays he sets forth his feeling as to what has constituted the formative spirit of America and criticizes a group of his contemporary writers who are given to speaking disparagingly of certain traditional American ideals. Mr. Sherman dubs such writers alien spirited and protests that they display a complete misapprehension of the best traditions of our country. It is frequently to be noted that such views come from writers who are only one generation removed from alien ancestry. Mrs. Robert Northcross, whose views on books and writers are always listened to with special interest, gave some illuminating ideas regarding certain books in particular and some deeply thoughtful suggestions on books in general.

As every subject which is given attention at the society meetings is treated from the patriotic viewpoint only, books were discussed only as a formative influence or as an expression of the national spirit. Because literature governs through ideas and emotions it has often proven a powerful force in the unification of national life.

At the conclusion of the discussion the guests lingered for a social chat over the tea cups. The hostesses, Miss Mabel McFadden, Mrs. H. M. Sammis, Mrs. Claude E. Brown and Mrs. A. A. May, served tea and delicious sandwiches, while Mrs. Almira Hudson and Mrs. C. G. Chapman presided at the tea tables.

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is anxiety, not work, that breaks men. You have been driven almost to desperation by your heart-breaking concern for the health and comfort of one you love.

Now that you know that that one is beyond the reach of pain and woe, "safely landed on that other shore," a strange calmness and peace pervade your soul. Do not misunderstand it; it is the healing touch from the hand of God to restore your strength for the tasks which await you. Thank Him and go on to do your duty well.

INSTALL MOORE
AS BUILDERS'
EXCHANGE HEAD

Following 12 months of successful direction of the Orange county division of the Los Angeles
Builders' exchange, George R.
Wells, of Santa Ana, last night surrendered the presidency of the organization to O. T. Moore, of this city, when officers were installed at the division meeting held at Elks club, Anaheim.

In relinquishing his authority to Moore, Wells told the members that, since its organization two years ago, the division had built up a fine spirit of acquaintanceship among men of the county
engaged in the building trades, and that the membership now numbered 80 active men and firms.

Moore promised his best efforts in behalf of the organization during his incumbency and anticipated continued success in the field the division occupies.

Paul Langworthy, secretary and general manager of the Los Angeles Builders' exchange, was present and installed other officers, as follows: Elmer Bowers, Anaheim, vice president; William J. Kelley, Santa Ana, executive secretary; Wilbur Getty, treasurer; C. R. Harrison, Cal Gilbert, Lawrence King, E. E. Patmor,
George H. Rogers, S. Sorenson,
J. S. Fluor, W. F. Sorenson, C.
F. Carlson, G. S. Beale, directors.

Tells of Activities
Reciting features of the year's activity of the exchange, that will be included in his annual report soon to be submitted to members, Langworthy said the organization has a membership of 719 individuals and firms, representing the most prominent contractors and building material men of Los Angeles and Southern California counties, having divisions of the exchange. Financially, he said, were in splendid condition, cash on hand and bills receivable on May 1 being $12, 418.60.

Announcement was made that Mark Cohen, expert on building codes, would be in Santa Ana within a week to confer with local builders and building inspectors of municipalities in the county with reference to the codes he is writing in anticipation of their adoption by the councils of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton and Huntington Beach.

It is proposed to make the codes of these cities uniform as far as they can be unified to meet the individual requirements of each city.

Board To Co-operate
William Schumacher, of Anaheim, member of the board of supervisors, responding to an invitation of the president for a few remarks, said that he believed the action of the division in developing uniform codes for the cities should be extended to include the unincorporated portions of the county. He assured the division members that the board of supervisors was ready to cooperate to the extent of adopting a code that would regulate building in the country districts.
Mar. Bright, of Los Angeles, was the principal speaker, and discussed general contracting, particularly with reference to the relationship of the general contractor and subcontractors.

Court Notes

Dispute in Family
A legal dispute arose today in the Palacios family, of Santa Ana, when John Palacios filed suit in superior court to compel Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Palacios to give him a deed to local property. The plaintiff claims he has paid for the property, but has been refused a deed. He paid $600, which he asserts is a fair price. Attorneys Z.
B. West Jr. and Franklin G. West represent him in the court proceedings.

Says Husband "Stepped Out" Charging her husband with cruelty and non-support, Mrs.
Ruby H. Lord, of Orange, was plaintiff today in a divorce action on file in superior court against Elton W. Lord. Attorney Charles
D. Swanner, of Santa Ana, represents Mrs. Lord.

The husband, it is claimed, was jealous of other men, but admitted to his wife, she says, that he
"stepped out" with other girls.
Because he did not work, himself, she obtained employment at a home factory and had to come home late at night, she stated.
Instead of bringing her home,
Lord spent the evening with other girls, she charged.

They were married at Orange,
Feb. 23, 1923, and separated March 27, this year.

Stahl Jury Disagrees
With a jury unable to agree as to their guilt or innocence, George Stahl and his wife, Stella, of Sunset Beach, today faced a second trial on a charge of possessing liquor, the case being set for June 11 in Justice K. E. Morrison's court.

The jury that heard evidence in the case yesterday deliberated from 3:40 p. m. to 5 p. m., and was then discharged.

The jury was unable to determine whether a fluid drained from the pipes beneath the sink at the Stahl home, when officers broke in there, was actually, as the officers claimed, liquor that Stahl had hastily emptied into the sink
when the raid occurred.

Says Wife Nagged Him
Mrs. Ester Hilburn nagged at her husband because his mother, in whose house the couple lived,
had apartments there too. She charged.

The first grade. Such excellent results have been obtained through the work of the nurse provided by Mr. Mitchell the county superintendent, this year that the parents are anxious to co-operate.

rarily in El Paso, Tex., she refused to accompany him. She

Ana, the papers being on file today in superior court. Attorney
W. F. Menton represents Hilburn.
The Hilburns were married in

Police Persuade Dejected Man to Keep On Living

Walking into police station yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, a well-dressed man calmly announced to Detective Earl Leitz that he had decided to commit suicide.

Leitz heard the story the man told as to his reasons for the contemplated action, argued with him, pleaded with him, and finally sent him to Dr. H. E. Zaiser, at the county hospital.

Last night the man was seen on the street, evidently discouraged in his idea to "end it all."

Family worries, together with his inability to see a small daughter, were given by the stranger as reasons for wanting to commit suicide.

Many Wives are Childless Because of Ill Health. Read
How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Helped Mrs. Benedict

MRS. MARY R. BENEDICT
313 PAYSON STREET, KEWANEE, ILLINOIS

"When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative

Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my teens until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—MRS. MARY R. BENEDICT, 313 Payson Street, Kewanee, Ill.

Has a Beautiful Baby Girl Now Bridport, Vermont.—"In the first place I wanted a baby, but none seemed to come to me. I just love children and my husband is away all day, so I was not happy at all. A doctor told me I could not have a baby until I went to a hospital. But my sisters said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you will be O.K.' I was nervous, had organic weakness, with backache, sideache, headache and no strength.
I had been in bed nearly a week when I began taking the Vegetable Compound. It was all that ever helped me and I just wish you could see my beautiful baby girl. I am fine now, and so is she. I am still taking the medicine as it keeps me well. You may be sure I am recommending the Vegetable Compound and always will."—MRS. A. W. HOWE, Bridport,

2000-YEAR-OLD OAK IS COMING TO U. S.

CLEVELAND, May 5.—The historic Ketterick oak, 2000 years old and 47 feet in circumference, has been uprooted from the estate of the Duke of Bussleuch of Scotland, and is on its way to the United States to adorn the country home of an American millionaire, according to Congressman Martin L. Davey, in an address here.

"The amazing thing is that the world has so squandered its wealth of forests that when a tree attains only a natural age it should be the subject of comment. Its age ought to be taken as a matter of course. There should be tens of thousands of such trees. Instead, they are comparatively few. There are yew trees in Kent, England, estimated to be 3000 years old, and in Norfolk and Windsor Great park there are trees equally old," he said.

"One of the most famous English trees is the Parliament Oak. Edward I, over 700 years ago summoned his followers for a council of war under its branches. Another ancient oak is called Robin Hood's Larder—the name tells the legend its branches witnessed the battle.

CHORAL UNION SINGERS EXCEL IN REVIVAL OF FAVORITE OLD MUSICAL PLAY, PILSEN PRINCE

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

"Can it be possible that so tuneful and charming a production as 'The Prince of Pilsen' is to be the Orange County Choral union's swan song?" This was the anxious question which Santa Anans were today asking each other as they discussed Gustave Luders' famous musical comedy sung so capably last night at the high school auditorium under the direction of Ellis Rhodes.

For rumors were rife that tonight's performance would be the final one which the organization (now in its third year) would give, and that the descent of the curtain would indicate far more than the end of the play. Hence it was with excited feelings that a large audience saw last night's performance. Melancholy tinged the admiration given individual actors and the interest and enjoyment of the comedy as a whole.

For, aside from the painful possibility of its being the last production, the whole affair was delightful. There were old favorites to be greeted with admiration, and there were newcomers to receive the stamp of approval. There were old principals doing good work in the ranks of the chorus—and there were chorus members who gave an excellent account of themselves when elevated to more important roles.

Pretty Stage Sets
Stage settings were admirable; that of the first act, showed the court of the Hotel Internationale and the second, the gardens of the hotel. Costumes were quite lovely and the principals wore some unusually artistic gowns. The cast of characters as printed, gave in addition to the principals, the different chorus numbers. Heidelberg students, cadets, Vassar girls, hunters, bathing girls, waiters, etc.

A. J. Garroby, or "Garry" as he is popularly known, surpassed all of his previous roles in his interpretation of the "Prince of Pilsen." For in addition to the quality of his voice, he brought a fine spontaneity to the characterization. His "Pictures In the Smoke" was an especially popular solo number, while the "Sea Shell Song" with Miss Edith Cornell brought rounds of applause.

The pseudo-Prince, in reality a good brewer from "Tsincinnatti" yeelpet "Hans Wagner" was none other than our beloved Maurice Phillips. And we pause to ask what would the Choral union have done without Maurice—but what will Maurice do without the Choral union—and what will we do without the two in conjunction?

Plays Role Admirably
A natural comedian, he played the role—German accent and all, with his usual inimitable touches, leaving the audience with but one regret—that, in the second act, they didn't see the entire bathing suit whose charms were suggested by the red stockings. His songs were clever, so were his "impromptu" speeches, written by his secretary.

His young officer son, "Tom Wagner" was very well done by Reginald Taylor who has offered excellent work in earlier productions. Playing opposite Irma Huffman May, he was most satisfactory as a lover and their pretty duet number "Message of the Violet" was quite as lovely to the eye as to the ear.

Tom Halliwell gave an excellent bit of character work in "Artie," playing with a pronounced English accent and an astonishing wardrobe—not even forgetting the monocle.

It seems a pity to picture disbanding the Choral union just when a "find" like Lawrence Mayer appears. He is (for the information of interested persons who, like ourselves, didn't know) a brother-in-law of La Rue Phipps Mayer, the lovely "Maid Marian" of "Robin Hood" and a member of the chorus in the "Prince of Pilsen." He is a newcomer so far as dramatic or operatic productions are concerned, and he gave one of the cleverest French interpretations imaginable. Altogether his was a remarkable bit of acting and voice control and when he masters his cues as he will by tonight's second performance, he will be one of the outstanding figures in the production.

The minor roles of courier and gendarme were entrusted to excellent hands, Jack Miller and A. H. Taylor respectively whose work was as good and as painstaking as it has been in more ambitious parts.

Saucy and Clever
Saucy and clever indeed was Miss Maxine Hoppes as "Jimmie," the bell-hop, and she gave a consistently and amusingly clever characterization. As the dashing widow, "Mrs. Madison Crocker," Lyra Daley was a smooth and pleasing performance. It was not as big a role as some in which she has appeared, but gave ample scope to her vocal and dramatic abilities and was interestingly developed.

Irma Huffman May has the true feeling for the stage, and seems—no matter what her role—to be able to put it start out. As "Edith Adams" playing opposite the son, she was graceful and coquettish and always completely "in the picture." As has been before remarked, her song "Message of the Violet" was most beautiful. So was her costume of soft orchid georgette to which the big cluster of violets added the final touch.

Gracious Gesture
Lillian Medberry's effervescent spirits found a role exactly suited to them in "Sidonie" the little French maid. Her friends who have enjoyed her work in the chorus, were delighted at her power to put over the more ambitious part. Her voice was sweet and clear, her acting amusingly clever, and moreover she did a gracious thing that watchful friends particularly enjoyed. In a very clever number (song and dance) with Miss Marceline Hoppes, the rounds of well-merited applause brought an encore and Mrs. Medberry (for whom—at a very conservative estimate, at least half of the salves were intended) graciously stood back and allowed the charming little Anaheim girl—making her first appearance before strangers—to receive the honors and repeat her part of the duet. It was so gracious and kindly a thing to do that the audience warmed still more toward the Santa Ana singer.

Remains but Edith Cornell of the principals. Edith Cornell of the crystal clear voice and the charming personality, who has sung a place for herself, straight into the hearts of Santa Ana folk. Her successes in previous operas have been exactly as many as the number in which she has appeared. Last night's "Nellie Wagner" will now be added to the list. And it seemed most fitting that her shy charm should capture the prince. And by the way she wore the loveliest frock in the whole play in her final scene.

Gowns are Feature
But all the gowns were pretty. From the smart ensembles worn by the Vassar girls, to the colorful creations in the "Song of the Cities." Aiding in costuming the cast were the local firms of Rankin Drygoods company, "Nanette," who loaned the smart chapeau of the evening was the famous Heileberg song when, as student comrades of the true Prince, the men grouped themselves together and sang minus orchestral accompaniment. Music is Beautiful Entr'acte numbers of the orchestra were directed by the leader, D. C. Clanton, but during the action of the play, Ellis Rhodes wielded the baton in his usual manner. The music was unusually beautiful, and as everyone will recall, the different songs were intensely whistleable. It was matter for civic pride that orchestra, company and directors were a purely local product, even though Ellis Rhodes' duties keep him more in Los Angeles than in Santa Ana. Another unit of the Music-Drama association of which the Choral union is a part, aided immeasurably, for George Gerwing of the Community Players, served as stage director. The pretty dance numbers were given under the guidance of Salie Lee Seales while publicity for the comedy was directed by Reginald Taylor, the "Tom Wagner" of the cast.

Practically all the down-stairs seats were taken at the high school for the first performance and ticket sales today indicate that tonight's performance will be greeted by an even greater crowd. They will have a thoroughly satisfying evening, those Choral union fans—but how they will be saddened at the final ringing down of the curtain!

Pleasant Courtesy to Express Admiration
Of Co-Workers

Expressing the admiration which the entire Baptist church membership feels for the personality and ability of Mrs. W. H. Harrison, president of the Woman's society of the church, was a May tea presented recently at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Otto Russell on Spurgeon street, in honor of Mrs. Harrison.

Unusually lovely flowers formed a garden background for the charming spring frocks worn by the guests. The receiving line too was flower-like in its charm. Mrs. Harrison, honor guest, wore a beautiful corsage which was the gift of the Men's club of the church. Presenting the guests were the other members of the receiving group, the hostess, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Albert Hill and Mrs. H. H. Reeves.

Informal chat and a brief but entertaining program, formed the diversion and in the dining-room, the guests enjoyed the daintily served tea. The table was attractive with May-pole, colorful ribbons, May baskets and Kewpie

Double June Events
Recognized at
Gift Shower

The hospitable Laguna Beach home of Mrs. Laura James was opened Saturday to the teachers and ex-teachers of Spurgeon school, when Mrs. Leila James Wharton, Miss Olive Wagner and Mrs. Emma Dietrich entertained in honor of the Misses Sadie McClain and Gretchen Liebermann.

The cheerfulness of the gorgeous spring flowers adorning the rooms matched the brilliancy of the ocean scene without, and both were significant of the occasion. For Miss McClain is to be a June bride, having announced her betrothal to Mr. Guy Maties of Orange, and Miss Liebermann is anticipating a journey abroad during the summer months.

A delicious one o'clock luncheon was served, at which time the honorees were surprised with gifts appropriate to the coming events. A handsome silver steak set was presented to Miss McClain while Miss Liebermann received a leather note case in which to store away her memories of Europe by means of notes and snaps.

Dainty tea towels for the bride-elect were embroidered during the afternoon, each one bearing the initials of the individual making it.

Those who were bidden to share the pleasant day were the Misses Sadie McClain, Gretchen Liebermann, Eva Osborn, Clara Blesener, Marie Brecheen, Nelle Morgenson, Maurie Hamill and Dorothy Carothers; Mesdames Ellen Fields, Lu Ella Greene, Frankie King, Hazel Catherman and the hostesses, Mrs. Leila Wharton, Miss Olive E. Wagner and Mrs. Emma Dietrich.

Guests Greeted at Pleasant Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hardy were hosts Sunday at a sumptuous four-course chicken dinner served at 6 o'clock at the Hardy home, 518 East Second street. The living-room was beautifully decorated with roses, and sweet peas were used in the dinin-room and on the table.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Will Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hardy and son of Huntington Beach, and Miss Katharine Hardy of this city. The guests enjoyed a radio concert in the evening.

Realtors Auxiliary

A talk on Orange county harbor at Newport Beach by Mrs. Louise Mock, wife of Carl Mock, local real estate man, will be one of the features of the meeting Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock of the Santa Ana Realtors auxiliary. The women will gather at the home of Mrs. Charles Aubrey, 509 South Sycamore street.

dolls and was arranged by Mrs. J. A. Gardner, chairman of the flower committee. During the early hours of the afternoon, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks and Mrs. E. A. Wood poured, resigning their places later to Mrs. J. P. Green and Mrs. Harding of Missouri, a houseguest of Mrs. J. P. Williams and a friend of long standing of the Russells.

Just before the tea hour, Mrs. Gardner read an interesting original poem expressive of the affection the church members feel for Mrs. Harrison, and gracefully crowned her with a chaplet of flowers as May Queen. Master Freddy James sang some of his charming little songs and Little Miss Mary Anna Deaver delighted with her readings, given with expression and poise.

Over one hundred guests called during the afternoon to extend their good wishes to Mrs. Harrison and greet members of the receiving group and other friends.

Merry Costume Party
For Anniversary
Of Wedding

Quaintly clad guests assembled at the F. Germain home, in Santa Ana Gardens late last week, to aid Mr. and Mrs. Germain to celebrate their twelfth wedding anniversary and enjoy one of the merriest events of the week.

The favorite dances of an earlier day was introduced as the chief entertainment of the evening and Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Haarstead were quite the stars of the party when they presented a Norwegian polka. Singing favorite old songs was enjoyed and the merriment was climaxed at midnight when Mrs. Germain served a delicious supper.

Gifts of handsome cut crystal were showered on the hosts, and many beautiful flowers were sent them, to be used in decking their home for the event.

Costumes were clever and varied. The host, as "Si Perkins," received the consolation prize of forfeit for clever effect. Mrs. Germain received her guests in yama-yama costume. Mrs. Mamie Brockett was also a yama-yama girl while other disguises chosen were Mrs. A. O. Haarstead and Mrs. Shields, as reversible twins; Mrs. William Joseph in old-fashioned crotone frock; Mrs. O. Hess and Mr. Joseph each in patches. Mrs. Alvin Holton who recently returned to the Gardens from Lakeside, was a true "sheik" in smart Palm Beach garb and walked away with first prize. Belva Brockett and Alvin Holton were Chinamen; Orilla Brockett was in cleverly fashioned burlesque costume; Thelma Brockett, a zany maid and Mr. Brockett, a Jack Tar.

Among the thirty-five guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hilliker and son of Seal Beach, Mrs. Peter Matthews, oldest guest and Master William Haarstead, the youngest.

Anaheim Marriage
Of Local Interest

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hunton sr., former residents of Greenville, but now residing in Anaheim, have interested their many friends in this community by announcing the marriage of their son, J. D. Hunton jr. and Miss Helen Price, a charming Los Angeles girl.

The ceremony was an event of recent date at the parsonage home of the Rev. Mr. Ledbetter of Anaheim and the happy young couple were accompanied by the bridegroom's mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Hunton sr. and Mrs. J. L. Hunton and the former's lifelong friend, Miss Angia Robinson of Los Angeles.

The bride was like a rose in a lovely frock of shell-pink with which she wore a picture hat to harmonize. Following the ceremony the young Mr. and Mrs. Hunton returned to Los Angeles but will return to Anaheim where they will make their home with his parents on Palm street. Last Sunday evening a dinner was given in their honor at the country home of the groom's sister, Mrs. A. H. Jamieson near Panharino. The delicious menu featured roast turkey and many were the compliments lavished on Mrs. Jamieson for her culinary skill.

Present at the dinner were the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hunton sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hunton sr., Mrs. J. L. Hunton, Miss Angia Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hunton and son, Merlin, Miss Emma and Fay Hunton, Mr. Eugene Tolle, the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jamieson and daughters Margaret and Thelma.

Cut Crystal Given
Bride-elect at
Gift Shower

Leaving the pleasant associations of the local office of the Southern Counties' Gas company and its lively social events which are centered in the Efficiency club, Miss Emma Adams will, "some time in June", assume the management of a home of her own when she becomes the bride of Edward H. Rickert of the Los Angeles branch of the company.

The feminine associates of Miss Adams wished to honor her betrothal so they conspired in secret and as a result Miss Ruth Walker suggested a friendly evening of needlework in which Mrs. Marjorie McBurney and the bride-elect were to join her at her home, 512 West Second street, where trousseau "trillies" were to be fashioned.

But when Miss Adams and Mrs. McBurney arrived at the Walker home, the secret was out, for the whole friendly "Gas Office Bunch" was there—or at least the entire feminine contingent. Such a merry evening as followed! Fingers flew, so did tongues, and any break in the ripple of conversation, was amply filled in with radio music.

At a late hour Miss Walker asked her guests to desert the rose-adorned living room for an equally well-decorated dining-room where small tables were centered with pink sweet peas and saucy kewpies. At the table where the bride-elect was seated was a great May basket whose Cecel Brunner buds concealed a gift which all had delighted in selecting. It was of cut crystal and included a water pitcher, glasses and sherbert cups, all in one pattern.

After Miss Adams had expressed her pleasure, the hostess served chicken salad, heart-shaped sandwiches, ices molded in bridal forms, lady-fingers and hot chocolate to her guests who included in addition to the honoree, Miss Adams, the Misses Lettie Stowe, Isabel Wylie, Margaret Wylie, Etta Herner, Jean Denny, Hazel Salisbury, Dorothy Evans, Ruth Vieira, Frances Walker, Mrs. Marjorie McBurney, Mrs. Leila Baird and Mrs. Evalyn Bauman May.

The wedding of Miss Adams and Mr. Rickert will be in June although no date has yet been given to their friends. Her father, Frank Adams, who is here visiting his two daughters, Miss Adams and Mrs. Abigail Day at 607 East Pine street, will not return to his eastern home until after the nuptials.

School-Girls Enjoy
Social Evening

Miss Aileen Lair recently entertained a group of girls from the Frances Willard junior high school at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lair at 309 East Tenth street.

Early in the evening the young people went out to hang May baskets, returning later to the Lair home for games and music. There they found table decorations carried out in pink and white color scheme with sweet peas and carnations. Tiny pink nut cups were filled with nuts and candies. Ice cream, cake and fruitade were served. The young hostess, Miss Aileen and her mother, Mrs. Lair, were assisted in serving by Mrs. K. S. Hendricks of Garden Grove. Those present were the Misses Corrina Wilson, Mary Ford, Elizabeth Lehnhardt, Rosina Cone, Letitia Morgan, Louisa Peo and Wilma Hoy.

Pair of Fair Brides
Extended Honors at Kitchen Shower

As the wedding month nears, the city's social life is tinged with rose color, for the greater number of social functions are planned to honor some one of the summer brides. Among these, Miss Holly Lash is frequently complimented since her position in the musical and social life of the entire community has given her a host of friends in various circles.

Showers and teas galore have been and are being planned. Miss Lash has been honored by church choirs and similar musical organizations, and by the Business and Professional Woman's club since the announcement of her betrothal to Nelson Visel, son of the A. J. Visels of Bush street.

Mrs. B. H. Sharpless is making her honor guest at a tea Saturday afternoon when Miss Ada May Sharpless will be out from Glendale to assist in honoring her close friend at the charming Sharpless home on Newport road. Next Tuesday afternoon four hostesses, Mrs. Raymond Mayer jr., Mrs. Thomas Willis jr., Miss Ruth Armstrong and Miss Nellie Larson are making her the incentive for a tea at Ketter's gold room to which many close friends of the honoree have been bidden. Sharing guest honors were two brides-elect at a charming May party given recently by Miss Violet Wiesseman, who also wears a magic circlet on her engagement finger. The co-honorees were Miss Lash and Miss Beatrice Cartwright (fiancee of Robert Kenneth Crist of Los Angeles) and the May-baskets motif of the party extended to gifts in daintily trimmed baskets, presented to each pretty maid.

The Wiesseman home at 2411 North Park boulevard, was like a May-basket too, literally overflowing with posies, and in the dining-room where tea was served, the tables bore gay May poles from which colorful ribbons radiated to baskets filled with Cecel Brunner buds. Refreshments served in two courses, emphasized the rose motif, the ices being adorned with candied rose petals and individual cakes bearing dainty pink buds in the icing.

The gift baskets were presented at the tea hour, and heavily laden with articles to be used in the kitchens of the two new homes. Further entertainment was given by two amusing contests and by clever readings by Miss Helen Wiesseman, younger daughter of the home. Her selections included "The Usual Way" and other interesting numbers appropriate to the bridal theme of the afternoon.

FRENCH OPEN WAR ON BOBBED HAIR

PARIS, May 6.—War against the fad of bobbed hair and shaved necks has been declared by hairdressers, milliners, couturiers and other potentates of fashion at whose shrine women worship. Of course, they are looking for the return of their vanished profits. Advertisements promising to make the hair grow quickly are seen in women's papers and shop windows. One on the boulevard reads: "We restore your crowning glory within a few visits, prices moderate." Another in a popular magazine addressed to women draws attention with the line, "Be Yourself Again."

Wigs of coiled hair knotted at the back are quite the vogue among women at fashionable balls in the early spring season. Many of them are fantastic and gaily covered. They have come into use to cover up the shaved neck and to provide a headdress to set off a gown.

Although the spring fashions keep to the slim, clinging effect in gowns, ruffles and other reliefs are tending more and more to a style which demands a new coiffure. Dictatorial dressmakers declare that bobbed hair confines designs to a very limited field for chicness. M. Pierre Rolland, president of the Academy of Masters of French Coiffure and naturally interested, says that the fashion for short hair has turned the corner and the tendency is back to old times.

UNIFORMED WOODMEN ESTABLISH CAMP HERE

Foresters, uniformed members of the Modern Woodmen of America, are staying under canvas while attending the state convention now in session in Santa Ana. The camp is located on the high school grounds.

WOODMEN OPEN STATE MEETING IN SANTA ANA

grounds, was formally opened by Col. J. A. McCahill, commanding officer of the First California regiment of M. W. of A. F., with appropriate ceremonies, including flag-raising and a regulation salute to the colors. Colonel McCahill's command ranks as one of the crack units in the military department of the organization.

Following the flag-raising, the assembled drill teams were drawn up in battalion formation for inspection and muster by Colonel McCahill and his staff.

Foresters Parade City After a few drills on the parade ground, there was a lull in organized activities until the Foresters gathered once more for the big military parade in the evening. Preceded by a platoon of motorcycle police and headed by the American Legion band and drum band in striking uniforms, the procession started from the convention headquarters at Hotel Santa Ana, and after proceeding along the line of march, moved up Fourth street to the American Legion hall.

Everything contributed to make the event a success in every respect. The parade itself went with military precision. The teams in their smart-fitting uniforms, made a splendid appearance. Just enough variety was provided in the colors and insignia of the different uniforms of the Foresters to identify the teams. The throngs of spectators that jammed the sidewalks along the route showed their approval by continuous applause as the column moved along its line of march.

Hospitality Is Shown An outstanding feature of the convention has been the graceful hospitality extended by the ladies of Magnolia camp of the Royal Neighbors, of Santa Ana, an auxiliary to the Foresters. In addition to placing their automobiles at the disposal of visiting ladies, they took full charge of the convention headquarters. Exquisite bouquets of flowers, mostly roses, were placed in the rooms of the convention visitors at Hotel Santa Ana.

Another accommodation feature which has elicited much favorable comment, is the information booth in the hotel lobby, presided over by Miss Irene Daniger.

The afternoon was given over to exhibition drills by the various teams camped at the high school grounds and for which suitable prizes have been provided. The winning tea mwill be given a free trip to the head camp, to be held in Milwaukee, next month. The convention will close this evening with a gala banquet at the Woodman's hall, to be followed by a grand ball at the American Legion hall.

HOMEOPATHS IN SESSION SACRAMENTO, May 6.—Annual convention of the California State Homeopathic society opened here today with approximately 150 physicians from all parts of the state in attendance.

CENSUS OF KIDDIES TO BE TAKEN SOON

Dr. M. A. Patton, Outgoing
President, Is Presented With Watch Fob

With four past presidents in charge of the meeting, Santa Ana Rotarians yesterday ushered out their outgoing president, Dr. M.
A. Patton, and ushered in their new president, T. E. Stephenson.

At the same time, the new president, for the directors of the club, announced that one of the definite projects to be undertaken by the Santa Ana Rotary club for the coming year is the taking of a census of crippled children of Santa Ana, Delhi and Tustin, and the direction of efforts toward betterment of physical conditions of as many of those cripples as it is possible for the club to reach, either directly or indirectly.

Work Through Schools
"Our plan," said Stephenson, "is to be of assistance where assistance is desired and needed. We hope to be able to complete the census within a month or five weeks, for it is largely through the schools that we expect to obtain the names of those who might be interested in the work."

The committee named to have charge of this work is Marshall Keeler, chairman; W. S. Suddaby, O. M. Robbins, W. W. Wasser and William Rudd.

"One of Dr. David Starr Jordan's most famous epigrams," said the president, "is this: 'The world stands aside for the man who knows where he is going,' and the epigram may very well be applied to a club. Our achievements for the coming year will be measured by our ability to make a definite program, to find out where we are going and by our going."

JAPANESE PICKING STRAWBERRIES IN FIELD OF 15 ACRES IN ORANGE COUNTY

JEFFERSON CENTENNIAL

NEW YORK, May 6.—New York City is arranging to celebrate July 4, 1926, the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson, author of that document. Mayor Hylan has appointed a committee. A Jefferson centennial is proposed.

GROWING OF STRAWBERRIES IS RAPIDLY BECOMING ONE OF IMPORTANT INDUSTRIES

Raising of strawberries is rapidly coming to the front in Orange county, and constitutes one of the most interesting of the many branches of agriculture carried on here.

One of the largest strawberry patches in Orange county is that of H. Shigaki, Japanese farmer, in the Costa Mesa district. Shigaki's ranch is located on the Fairview road, near the old site of the Fairview Hot springs. Approximately 15 acres are covered with strawberries here. Every day a large crew of Japanese is at work in the field picking berries. As soon as the berries are picked, the land just gone over by the pickers is watered.

Strawberries, according to Shigaki, are planted in February, and do not bear until March of the following year. The strawberry season lasts over a period of several months. Starting late in March, the plants reach the peak of their production about the first two weeks of May. In June, the plants rest and few berries are picked. In July and August, the second crop of berries is harvested.

The berries this year are bringing excellent prices. Shigaki has endeavored to raise an extremely delicious berry, and has succeeded. Hundreds of persons who pass on the highway stop daily to watch the picking and to purchase strawberries from the field. Many prefer to pick their own berries and sometimes are allowed to do so.

In picking the berries, the pickers grade them in two sizes. Small berries are placed in separate boxes and sell for a lower price than the larger berries. Each acre will produce approximately 10,000 boxes of strawberries in a season. The average production, according to Shigaki, is about 400 crates to the acre.

Woman Hurt By Glass In Crash

Mrs. F. A. Martin, 317 South Flower street, was severely cut about the face by flying glass yesterday afternoon, in an automobile accident at the intersection of tenth and Main streets.

According to report, by Officer Jaeger, school children at the corner signalled for traffic to stop while they crossed the street. A car rolled up to the safety lines and stopped suddenly, and a taxi cab behind, driven by John Waters, 22, crashed into it. Mrs. Martin was in the taxi cab, and was thrown forward through the glass.

S. A. LIONS TO WEAR SPECIAL GARB AT MEET

Delegates Will Don White
Trousers, Shoes, Fezzes
And Orange Bands

Members of the Lions club of Santa Ana, attending the convention at San Diego May 26 to 28, will wear white trousers, white shoes and hose, white shirts, dark coats, special ties, fezzes and orange colored arm bands, according to decision made yesterday at a meeting of the club convention committee and some of the delegates.

Plans were made at the meeting for the club's activity at the convention, the program including a number of stunts. Andy Anderson has been made chairman of the entertainment committee.

Efforts continue to be made to take the Santa Ana Municipal band to the southern city, and a committee consisting of E. B. Sprague, H. B. Van Dien and the Rev. Perry F. Schrock was appointed to ask the city council to contribute to the fund necessary to take the musical organization south.

Harold Wahlberg, president of the club, was elected floor chairman of the contingent which will attend from here.

Cal Prior was named as chairman of a committee to select club songs for featuring the annual meeting, and Andy Anderson was designated song leader.

At the club meeting tomorrow, it is expected teams will be organized for the golf and indoor baseball competitions at San Diego.

Decision also was made that the Santa Anans should not attempt to organize an automobile caravan for the trip south.

Forty-five members have signified their intention of registering at the convention. Most of them will be accompanied by their wives, giving this city a big representation.

According to information from San Diego, reservations indicate an attendance of 2000 delegates and visitors.

Damage Suit Is Filed Against Pickwick Co.

ORANGE, May 6.—That his automobile is worth $10 a day to him, is the claim made by L. Jacobson, of Santa Ana, in a damage suit filed in Justice court here, against the Pickwick Stage company, as the result of a collision, which occurred several months ago on the Orana intersection.

The suit was to have been heard here yesterday before G. W. Ingie, Justice of the peace, but was continued when the principals failed to appear.

Jacobson is suing the stage company for a judgment of $157.03, the amount which he claims is due him for repairs and the time he was deprived of the use of his car. The automobile, he says, was in a garage for a period of eight days, and the repairs necessary cost him $77.03.

Bryce P. Gibbs, of Los Angeles, is the attorney for the stage company and Messrs. David P. Faries and George M. Hamilton of Los Angeles represent the plaintiff.

IMPORT MORE BANANAS
WASHINGTON, May 5.—But we do have bananas! More bananas were imported last year than ever before. The total value was about $22,000,000, as compared with $7,000,000 20 years ago.

Municipal Affairs

With the helm of its municipal "ship of state" entrusted to the guidance of a man who soon will turn his shoulders on the 75th milestone of life, Orange claims, in G. W. Whitsell, the oldest city executive in the west.

Mayor Whitsell has for three years presided over the city council, and although July 11, of this year, will mark the 75th anniversary of his birth, Father Time's inscriptions have not been instrumental in robbing him of that sound judgment which is so highly regarded by his colleagues.

City Welfare in Mind

With the welfare of the community always foremost in his mind, Mayor Whitsell is constantly studying problems confronting the city, and submitting sound suggestions for their solution. He is credited with having given Orange the greatest number of municipal improvements ever brought about in the city during such period of time as he has held the municipal gavel.

One who meets the man who today holds the reins of Orange's municipal government, would not suspect that, in his youth, Mr. Whitsell was a pale, haggard boy. Yet it is true that his parents were obliged to take him from school, that he might better be able to battle the forces that threatened to deprive him of life. It is an interesting story that he relates as to how the dread disease was conquered when he began, upon the advice of a physician, to play a wind musical instrument, so that he might strengthen his lungs.

Born on July 11, 1851, in Norwalk, O., Mr. Whitsell journeyed with his parents, five years later, to Centerville, Ia. He recounts that the railroad at that time extended only 13 miles west of Burlington, Ia., and tells of the journey from Burlington to Centerville, a distance of 125 miles, having been made by wagon train. He has lived in Orange since 1906.

His Outlook On Life

"The world is nothing but a monstrous stage, equipped with all its settings," Mayor Whitsell declared, "and we humans are all actors, placed here for the purpose of making the universe a better place in which to live. If, when we leave our earthly existence, we do not leave the world better than when we entered it, then we have not deserved the privilege of playing a role in the greatest production of all."

"I have, during all stages of my life, attempted to keep abreast of the times. Because of that, I have always been able to look forward to a bigger and better thing, and to have vision of what life is to be for my descendants and for the descendants of others. When the time comes that I no longer can be an optimist, and see better, instead of worse, in the future, then I am ready to pass out of the world. That time, however, is far distant."

The present-day youth is Mr. Whitsell's favorite topic of discussion. And the fact that he does not visualize the modern boy as an incorrigible, lends another interesting sidelight on this man's views on modern life.

"What boy ever lived," asked Mayor Whitsell, "who did not think, at a certain age, that he knew more than his elders? I can remember how, when my father

FAME OF CITY 'Y' BUILDING TRAVELS FAR

Those who contributed to the Y. M. C. A. building fund may take pride in the fact that the fame of the Santa Ana building for general excellence of design, completeness of arrangements, and all-around suitability for association purposes, has reached far-away Krakow, Poland. News to that effect is contained in a letter received by Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the local association, from E. O. Jacob, general secretary of the Krakow Y. M. C. A.

Jacob is an old friend of Smedley. Many years ago they were associated in different phases of Y. M. C. A. work. Jacob was formerly in charge of "Y" work in the Levant, and had a part in exciting times during the war in the Near East.

The Krakow secretary writes that his Y. M. C. A. organization is about to construct a moderate-sized association building. Removed from the rest of the association world, he adds, the Krakow "Y" people are unable to visit other modern association buildings, and are therefore forced to depend upon printed and other material pertaining to buildings for ideas in the preparation of their building plans.

The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. building was among those suggested as a suitable model for the Krakow project. Secretary Jacob states in his letter, "For this reason, he asks to be supplied with printed and other material which will illustrate both the interior and exterior of the local building."

Secretary Smedley said today that, in addition to a supply of pictures, he will supply his Krakow colleague with a complete set of blueprints and specifications of the Santa Ana building.

Pleads His Own Case But Loses And Draws Fine

F. Ackerman, Santa Ana, one of the trio arrested by the city police on West Fourth street Monday, on a drunk charge, pleaded his own case in police court yesterday, and in spite of his eloquence, drew the same fine as the other two defendants who left themselves to the mercy of the court. All three were fined $25, with the alternative of 25 days in jail.

Juan Agala and Hamilton Barber were other defendants. Agala paid his fine. Ackerman and Barber being returned to the Orange county jail.

Ackerman testified in his own behalf that he had known Agala for some time, but when Agala testified, it was to the effect he had never seen Ackerman until the day the trio were arrested.

Name Bouldin As Placentia Area Motor Officer

PLACENTIA, May 6.—W. M. Bouldin, city police officer, on May 1 was deputized to act as both state and county motorcycle officer and has secured a high-powered car to track down speeders and other traffic violators who impose upon Placentia's hospitality.

Inasmuch as Placentia is not incorporated any such violators arrested by Bouldin will be dealt with by county officials and fines assessed will not enrich the city coffers but go into the county treasury, it is stated.

Patrolman Bouldin has been conducting a vigilant campaign here ever since he took office four months ago, against a bootlegging element of this city which had become very troublesome. With the exception of the importation of liquor by outsiders into the town's confines which will occur in the best regulated city now and again, little or no "booze" is being sold here now, it is declared.

PEABODY TELLS OF PROSPECTS FOR BUILDING UP PORT TRADE

Emphasizes Strategic Advantages of Newport Harbor In Talk Here

DECLARES NEW TAXES WILL PAY FOR WORK

Exchange Club Members
Are Given Startling Figures on Potentialities

The value of products manufactured annually in the metropolitan area of Los Angeles is $200,000,000 in excess of the agricultural products of the whole of the state of California, according to statements made by George T. Peabody, of Newport Beach, in an address to the Exchange club, at Ketter's, yesterday, on Orange county's harbor.

The speaker also declared that the cash spent by boat crews and saving in freight rates on shipments through the harbor was in excess of $100,000,444 a year, or a cash credit and saving each year in excess of the total cost of Los Angeles harbor.

Points to Harbor Possibilities
Pointing to the possibilities of Orange County harbor, were it developed, Peabody said that the port is 16 miles nearer than San Pedro to points in Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties and the eastern portion of Los Angeles county.

He emphasized possibility of better service to these communities through Orange County harbor, by stating investigation had revealed that it requires only 18 days for a shipment to come from New York to San Pedro by water, but that it often takes 33 days to get the same shipment from San Pedro to San Bernardino.

The speaker stressed the point that increased taxes from the harbor district, through industrial development and increase in land values would in time more than pay the interest and principal on the bond issue of $1,200,000 for completing the harbor.

Overlook Newport and Harbor

"There is one important thing that residents of the county seem to overlook and that is fair consideration for Newport Beach," Peabody said. "Many projects for the community have been held in abeyance, awaiting final determination of what the county proposes to do with the bay. If the county wants to improve the bay as a commercial port, it should say so; if it does not want to make the improvement, it should say so."

One of the business actions of the club was appointment of Floyd Croddy as permanent chairman of the entertainment committee, and Harvey Traveler to arrange a program for the next meeting.

Says Confession Of Slaying Was Made to Save Pal

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—Lawrence McMullen, former pal of Clarence "Tuffy" Reid, who was hanged April 24, for the murder of Charles Weingarten, of Los Angeles, has refuted his affidavit in which he assumed responsibility for firing the fatal shot, according to a statement given out by Gov. Friend W. Richardson today.

McMullen declares the statement made by him to Assemblyman Thomas Dodge, of Los Angeles, chairman of the assembly committee on prisons and reformatories, was made solely in the hope of obtaining a commutation of Reid's sentence.

The affidavit was made voluntarily by McMullen to the prison directors. It follows in part: "The statement sworn to by me on February 13, 1925, and especially as to the part therein in which I confessed to killing Weingarten is wholly and completely false and was made solely for the purpose of exonerating Clarence Reid in hope of securing for him a commutation of sentence."

McMullen said further that it was considered good ethics among prisoners confined at San Quentin to make any statement or affidavit necessary to save their companions from execution.

CITY ARRESTS SLIGHTLY LESS DURING APRIL

Arrests by Santa Ana police during the month of April, numbered 236, according to the monthly report filed with the city council last night.

The number is 20 less than during March, the difference being seen in the number of arrests made for violations of city ordinances.

Cases scheduled for the police court were virtually the same in number as in March. Four persons were charged with being drunk, and 10 held for investigation, various charges being placed later. There were seven arrests for vagrancy, three for possession of intoxicating liquor, and one for carrying a deadly weapon, concealed. Five men were arrested for breaking glass on a city street. There were three petit larceny counts and one battery case.

For violation of city ordinances, a total of 131 persons were arrested during the month, including those charged with parking over time, parking in stalls and near fire-plugs and also for turning in the middle of the block.

Only eight alleged speeders were arrested during April, and there was only one case of reckless driving. These cases were less in number than in March.

Two men were arrested in April on grand larceny charges and one on a charge of forgery. Six juvenile cases were handled by the city police during the month of April, the report showing that two were runaway girls, and two runaway boys. All were returned to their homes. Two lads were charged with grand larceny.

Four persons were arrested for police departments in other cities. During the month of April five automobiles were stolen from streets of Santa Ana, and the report shows that five motor cars were recovered by the police.

Eleven bicycles were stolen during April, six of these being recovered.

"DUDE" MARTIN
Vaudeville enthusiasts of this city are in for a treat at the Yost theater when "Dude" Martin's band, a group of nine local musicians, begin a three-day engagement tomorrow night. Martin is director and manager of the organization.

'DUDE' MARTIN BAND TO PLAY AT YOST HERE

"Dude" Martin's Band, a musical organization composed entirely of young Santa Anans who expect soon to begin a concert tour over one of the foremost vaudeville circuits of the country, begins a three-day engagement at the Yost theater here tomorrow night, according to announcement today by Manager E. D. Yost.

The band, managed and directed by "Dude" Martin personally, is composed of Dolph Kelsey, sousaphone; Howard White, saxophone; Orest Clonfani, saxophone; Tommy Wright, trombone; Leslie Carmack, trumpet; Bob Thompson, piano; Bill Luck, drums; Lawrence Allen, banjo, and "Dude" Martin, violin.

A seven-months engagement as official orchestra for dances held by Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, was but recently completed by the local musicians. Martin's syncopators also have been featured on the vaudeville stage at several Southland show-houses including the California theater at Anaheim. They also appeared recently at the Yost playhouse here and are playing their return engagement by special request.

Only popular numbers will be on the repertoire here, Martin announced. Such well known scores as "Copenhagen" and "Low Down" will be offered in addition to a special arrangement, prepared by Martin, of "Will You Remember Me?" and "Twilight." A slow motion picture number also will be a feature.

MAY USE RADIO TO HELP CROPS

BOSTON, May 6.—The high-frequency radio energy that is being broadcast constantly over the United States may prove a boon to farmers in improvement of their crops.

Such is the belief of a Boston electrical engineer who has been observing the effects of electrical energy dissipated by wires over and under ground, on the growth and yield of plants.

"In the not far distant future," he says, "radio may prove to be of more practical benefit to agriculture through stimulating the yield of fruits, vegetables and other farm products."

The engineer makes this deduction from observation of experiments in the stimulation of plant growth by electricity.

"For many years," he says, "experiments have been carried on both in this country and England with various methods for aiding crop growing by electricity. In England, it appears to be chiefly along the lines of overhead wiring."

"The chief deterrent to adoption of this method on a commercial scale, has been the cost. The advantages in stimulating growth and increased yield were not sufficient to offset the cost."

Another method of plant stimulation is to put wires into the ground, coat the seed with a finely divided non-deteriorating metal and drive a high-frequency current through the wires.

"There is a general belief that the principal effect of electricity in the soil is the addition of nitrogen to the soil," the engineer explains. "As we go nearer the tropics, the precipitation of nitrogen to the earth by the natural electrical disturbances in the atmosphere becomes increasingly heavy and vegetation becomes more abundant."

"It is therefore a natural assumption that artificial discharges of electricity, either through the air or through the soil, will react in the same manner."

From this he concludes the high-power, high-frequency currents transmitted through radio aerials might help plant growth in the vicinity of these aerials.

"We may look forward to the increased yield of plants in such areas," he says, "as well as a

"SEVEN CHANCES" CLOSING TONIGHT AT WALKER'S

He had $7,000,000, but still he was a poor man.

Why? Because his girl wouldn't marry him.

Such is the predicament of Buster Keaton in his new Metro-Goldwyn comedy, "Seven Chances," which closes at Walker's theater tonight.

It isn't as bad as Buster thinks, thank goodness, for his girl loves him. But because he proposes to her in order to get a wife and carry out the terms of his uncle's will so as to get the $7,000,000, she doesn't like it a bit.

"Seven Chances" was purchased by Joseph M. Schenck from David Belasco. Belasco's famous stage material and, by the way, it is the first stage production Buster has ever used for film purposes. Buster's trio of scenarists, Joe Mitchell, Jean Haves and Clyde Bruckman, have "gagged up" the Belasco comedy so that the screen version out-laughs the stage play at every turn.

ZANE GREY STORY NOW AT WEST END

Is it possible to make a woman fall in love with you by treating her rough? Is the female of the species more amenable to cave-man tactics than to the gentler arts of persuasion and devotion?

Zane Grey, perhaps the best known writer of outdoor fiction in the United States, answers "yes" to both questions. He proves it, too, in his latest novel, "Code of the West," now showing at the West End theater.

In the picture, Charles Ogle is owner of a big ranch in the Tonto Basin, Arizona. The routine life of the ranch folk is suddenly broken up by the arrival of Constance Bennett, sister of Mabel Ballin, the school-teacher, who boards at the ranch. Fresh from New York and with eastern customs and costumes, Miss Bennett has a devastating effect on all the ranch hands with the exception of Owen Moore.

Piqued at his indifference, she begins an active campaign to bring him to her feet, and eventually succeeds in having him confess he loves her. But when he proposes to her, she laughs at him and turns him down.

The realization that she has only been playing with him maddens the young cowboy and he decides to teach her a lesson. Seizing her, he carries her to a mine, and at the point of a gun, forces her to marry him.

What happens after that? The question is one not easily answered for the story develops a dynamic climax that leaves the ending in doubt until the last few feet of film.

"A KISS IN THE DARK" AT YOST TOMORROW

The picture, "A Kiss in the Dark," featuring Adolphe Menjou, Lillian Rich and Aileen Pringle, is a fine comedy of sophisticated society against a background of Cuba and New York.

"A Kiss in the Dark," which will be the feature at the Yost theater for three days beginning tomorrow, is a screen version of Frederick Lonsdale's stage success, "Aren't We All," adapted by Townsend Martin.

One of the many big laughs in the picture is the scene in which Menjou to cure Lillian Rich of a tendency to flirt, invites her husband to his apartment at a time when he knows Miss Rich will be there. In preparation for the big moment, Menjou plants an open magazine where his coquettish visitor will surely see it. Miss Rich arrives, nervous at her own temerity in this escapade and uneasily conscious of Menjou's reputation as a trifler. She is startled to see in the open magazine a picture of a girl, hearing the sensational caption: "She recovered from her stupor in a strange, incense-laden room, realizing that the wine she drank had been drugged."

Miss Rich looks up fearfully from the page to see Menjou pouring wine, while nearby an incense-burner sends out an insidious wisp of smoke. The suggestion in the book is so vivid that she declines the wine and Menjou's offer of a cigarette.

CHICAGO, May 6.—"Immediate action" against manipulators on the Chicago Board of Trade was demanded here by E. F. Although carefully avoiding the term "corner," Rosenbaum hinted that certain operators "have congested" the market to a point to cause alarm.

Women Hold Many Public Offices In Russo Soviet

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Women are rapidly becoming an increasing influence in the political life of the Soviet republic, according to figures received here by the Russian information bureau. Nearly 50,000 women hold public office in elective bodies in that country, the report shows.

Several women have already attained posts of major importance. The following are listed: Mme. Lenin (Krupskaya), chairman of the department of political education; Mme. Kollanti, ambassador to Norway; Mme. Kameneva, chairman for culture relations; Mme. Trotsky, chairman for the preservation of art museums; Mme. Blizenko, chairman of the cooperative institute.

Within three years the percentage of women members in Soviet political bodies has increased from none in the rural Soviets to about eight per cent, and in the cities from eight to eighteen per cent.

FEAR TROUBLE IF RECALLERS USE AUDITORIUM

Spokesman For "Voters" League Intimates League Will Ignore Refusal

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.

That trouble may develop here over the refusal of city trustees to grant the use of the Municipal auditorium to the Voters and Taxpayers league, an organization which is seeking the recall of two members of the board of trustees, was seen today when Amos Huston, a leader of the recall forces, informed City Clerk W. R. Wright, custodian of the auditorium, that the league wanted the auditorium for Thursday night. Huston intimated that the Voters and Taxpayers league planned to use the auditorium on that night and refused to make written application for the auditorium stating that "I do not wish to go through that formality."

The Voters and Taxpayers league have been refused the use of the city auditorium twice by city trustees. They have also been refused the use of the Woman's club house. Some of the trustees hearing of the incident at the city hall yesterday, registered their protest against the league being granted permission to use the auditorium.

Meanwhile, petitioners who are seeking the recall of the two members of the board, will have to wait another month before further action toward setting the date for a special election will be taken by the board of trustees. Following their regular procedure the trustees, at their regular meeting this week, instructed City Attorney L. W. Blodgett to draw up the necessary papers and ordinances to provide for the calling of an election. These papers will be submitted to the trustees at their next meeting June 1.

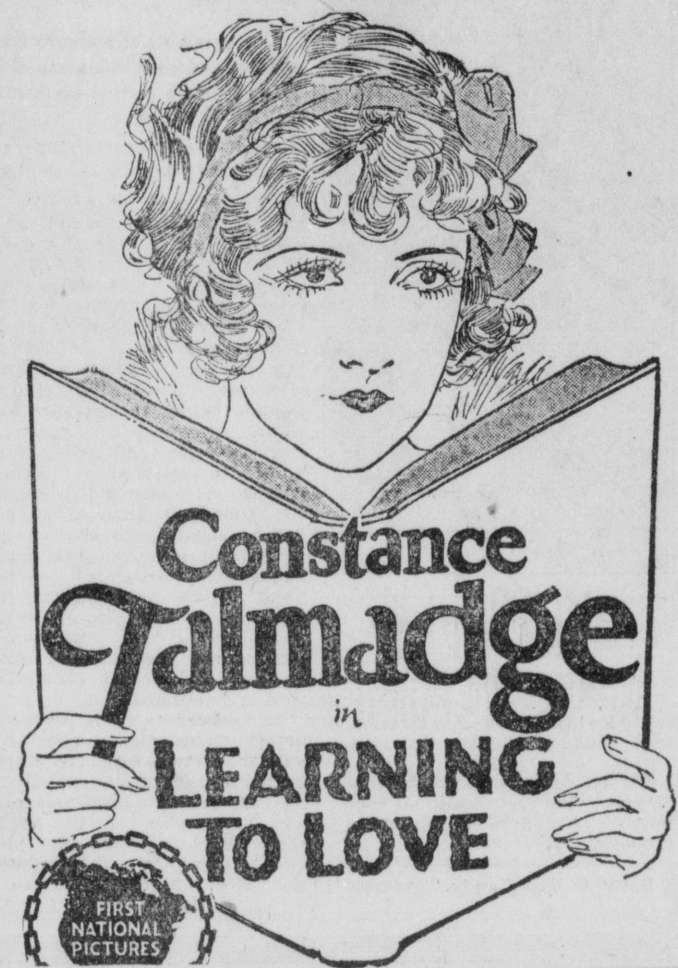

Between 30 and 40 days will have to elapse between the time the date for a special election is set, and the time when it will take place, it was also pointed out. The election probably cannot be held until sometime in July.

MINERS QUIT WORK TO JOIN MAN-HUNT

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—No definite trail of the two men believed to be Joe Tanko and Floyd Hall, escaped murderers, who are at bay in the rocky district north of Colfax had been found by the posses at 11 a. m. today, it was stated in long-distance telephone conversations.

Lookouts have been posted at all vantage points along the Colfax-Gold Run road, which is the main highway across the summit to Truckee.

There is hardly a chance that the men could have escaped during the night, Officer E. W. Gopen declared. "All roads out of the section and all train lines were carefully watched during the night."

The entire community of Colfax is armed and participating in the search. All persons who have been able to secure guns have volunteered their services.

Miners of the district have forsaken their work to participate in the greatest man-hunt waged there since the early pioneer days of the state.

Five persons were injured, two seriously, and police are seeking a man, said to be the driver of one of two cars, which collided at the intersection of Seventeenth street and Grand avenue, at 6:30 o'clock, last night.

In one of the cars, seven pints of alleged "moonshine" whisky were found early today by garage men who had towed the car from the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Emma Downey, Mrs. L. H. Crafts and Paul Hillman, 9 months old, occupants of a car driven by L. H. Crafts, were hurt. Victoria Rodriguez and Chonita Revele, occupants of the other car, also were injured.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Gloria Swanson, motion picture star, became the legal mother today of a baby boy.

The actress, with a 2-year-old infant in her arms, appeared in Judge Harry Archbald's court.

"This child is like a part of my own life," she told the judge. "I feel it is entitled to my inheritance and all the rights of my own child."

The court promptly issued adoption papers, and the child was christened Joseph Swanson, after Gloria's father.

The child was born to Mrs. Mary Smith, Los Angeles, on Oct. 3, 1922, according to Miss Swanson's petition. Written permission from Mrs. Smith accompanied the request for adoption. The baby's father is dead.

The Marquis de la Falaise, Gloria's newly-acquired French husband, accompanied the star to court, and became the "official father" of the infant.

Miss Swanson's 4-year-old daughter, "Little Gloria," also appeared with the actress. "Little Gloria's" father is Herbert Sornborn, the star's second husband.

ORANGE CLAIMS OLDEST MAYOR

attempted to tell things, when I was a youngster, I seldom listened to him. I considered him a back number. I realize now how I erred in my opinion, but so will the time come when the boys of today come to earth. They will not soar in their present heights of supposed wisdom forever, and they will make just as good citizens as today's majority.

"The bad habits attributed to the boys of today are not new," Mayor Whitsett declares. "Boys commenced smoking, for instance, at just as early an age, 50 or 75 years ago. I was a smoker, myself, long before I neared manhood. I do not cite that, however, to encourage smoking among young boys, for it is a bad habit. Although it has not seemed to affect my general health, and I smoke every day, I would, were it possible now, give up the habit."

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, May 6.—All the characteristics of a major bull market were present in today's session. Constructive activities gained increasing vigor in practically every section of the list and further substantial advances occurred in the stocks which have played the principal roles in the current forward movement.

Reading, Delich Valley and Wash. "A" also displayed exceptional strength and activity was maintained in the seaboard group, up to General Electric, Gulf, Mobile and Northern and the shares of various other roads strongly mentioned in connection with consolidation projects.

PLAYGROUND AT ORANGE URGED BY EDUCATOR

Would Eliminate Much Petty Crime In Opinion of Supt. Sherwood

ORANGE, May 6.—Declaring that a supervised summer playground in the city of Orange would be the means of eliminating petty crime among young boys, George W. Sherwood, superintendent of the Orange primary schools, appeared before the city board of trustees at its meeting yesterday, and asked that the city appropriate $150 so that the success of the playground project might be assured.

The board appeared impressed with Mr. Sherwood's reason as to why a playground should be established here, and decided to present the committee with the sum asked for.

Mr. Sherwood cited instances, when there was no school for several days, how "gangs" of boys traveled the streets not knowing what to do. It is the "gangs" that starts trouble, and it is to halt their organization that the playground should be established, said Mr. Sherwood.

With the gift from the board of trustees, the success of the playground movement is assured, and plans for the government of the recreation center are nearing completion. It is planned to hire a man and a woman to take charge of the playground in the afternoon during the summer. The various school grounds, equipped with the school apparatus, will be used, according to Mr. Sherwood.

Many children, declared the school superintendent, are left upon their own resources a great part of the time in that both their parents are working. Those children according to Mr. Sherwood, are the ones that need attention, and with the supervised playground they will be under careful supervision at all times.

CHAMBER AT BREA HAS GOOD MEETING

BREA, May 6.—Optimism dominated the meeting of the newly elected Chamber of Commerce directors held in the Chamber's offices Monday night. The meeting was the first to be held since the beginning of the organization's new fiscal year and the occasion was characterized by enthusiastic reports on what had been accomplished during the past period. J. D. Sievers, newly installed president.

The optimism evident at Monday's meet but reflects, it is asserted, the spirit that is generally prevalent among business men of the fast growing little city. Several new business blocks are under construction as well as many residences and the past week alone has seen the arrival of three additional business enterprises. Oil tool machine shops have increased their schedules to three eight-hour shifts, it is asserted, and business in general seems on the upgrade.

The newly elected directors present at this time included J. D. Sievers, president; J. R. Collins, first vice-president; Ted Craid, second vice-president; J. R. Hunt, secretary; Manager; E. F. Hurst, W. R. Minor, J. A. Luevinger, W. E. Panning, W. D. Shaffer, and W. A. Hall.

FINES RULING UNRECOGNIZED BY H. B. POLICE

Appellate Court Decision Has No Effect In Rum Fees at Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—The city of Huntington Beach will not be affected at all by the recent ruling of county authorities that all municipal governments must take in the controversy between city and county authorities. Tinsley then explained that the city ordinance here had been passed upon in the state supreme court and is the same as the Bakersfield ordinance which has withstood many legal tests.

"We are going to keep right on prosecuting liquor violators under our city ordinance," declared Chief of Police John Tinsley, when asked what steps his department would take in the controversy between city and county authorities. Tinsley then explained that the city ordinance here had been passed upon in the state supreme court and is the same as the Bakersfield ordinance which has withstood many legal tests.

City councilmen had expressed themselves as being opposed to turning over any money collected by the local city recorder to the county, before it was learned that because of their city ordinance the town would not be affected. The ordinance which is in effect here is based on the Volstead act.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinion of those who write them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Laguna Beach, California, May 5, 1925.
Editor Register: On May 2nd there appeared in the Public Forum an article signed by N. E. West and dealing with the board walk at Laguna Beach. In order to call attention to certain facts in connection with the matter, we respectfully request that you publish this letter in the same Public Forum column.

The article written by Mr. West will be answered paragraph by paragraph.

1. The article appearing in the Register on Monday, April 27th, was not prepared for you through ignorance or personal bias or both. It was written by a regular member of the Santa Ana Register staff, who was disinterested in the matter, and in our humble judgment the article was well written and fairly represented the facts. It was written after a personal investigation and inspection of the ground and that portion of the walk already constructed and after careful examination of maps showing the original surveys and property lines and after an investigation of the records in the office of the county assessor. Moreover, the writer was an experienced newspaper man, was aware that reason was particularly careful to ascertain the facts before he wrote and published the article.

2. We, too, hope and believe "that the Register will rise in its might against any underhanded or high handed action of any persons" who attempt to deprive the people of their rights. Moreover, we believe, and many court decisions uphold us in this belief, that when a map of a subdivision is regularly recorded and when it is shown and used in the selling of lots, and that map shows certain portions to be public property, that such portions are public property and should be kept as such. The greed and "petty bickerings" of any individual who attempts to claim for private purposes such property certainly can not be termed "public spirit."

3. The statement and general assumption throughout the article published on April 27th to the effect that the public is being deprived of a part of the sandy beach which it has enjoyed for more than 40 years is correct. There would have been no objections raised to the board walk had it been placed on or immediately in front of the property or lot lines as shown on the legally recorded map of the subdivision concerned. The lots referred to are numbers 114 to 128 inclusive, of Laguna Beach town site and they are 25 by 75 feet in size. The old board walk, which has existed for many years, was well in front of the property lines shown on the map mentioned—in some places approximately 50 feet or more—and the new board walk, according to an article in the Laguna Beach Life of April 10th was to begin ten feet toward the ocean from the outside edge of the old walk and was to extend another 14 feet toward the ocean. Because of the objections raised the portion of the new board walk that has been constructed has been drawn back until its inside edge is located approximately six feet (according to Mr. West) toward the ocean from the outside edge of the old walk. In a meeting held by the realtors of Laguna Beach Mr. West stated in effect that he expected to build out to the new board walk—that he owned to the mean low tide of the Pacific ocean—and that it was only his good graces and the good graces of the other property owners in that vicinity that the people were permitted to pass over this beach at all. Mr. West says that the construction of the walk makes the beach more usable. Does the taking away of a portion of the beach make it more usable?

4. We want a new board walk, and a good one, but we want it on the property lines. The people are invited to come and look over the beach for themselves (at high tide as well as at low tide) and see whether Mr. West's statement is true to the effect that there is an ample beach close to 100 feet wide in front of the new board walk. And even though it were twice 100 feet in width, would that make it right to take from the people the strip six feet in width between the old board walk and the new one—plus the width of the old board walk, plus the ground behind the old board walk and in front of the lines designated on the legally recorded map—thereby depriving the public of the use of this strip along the entire beach front?

5. Mr. West's article of May 2nd mentions the generosity of the construction of the board walk. Is it generous to construct a walk through a beach that has been used by the public for more than 40 years and then appropriate for private use that portion of the public beach behind the walk? This is the intent of those constructing the walk as shown by both word and act.

6. Yet it has happened that Mr. West is the one who started the new board walk, the walk through the beach that the public has enjoyed for so many years. It is also true that Mr. West stated in a meeting of the realty board of Laguna Beach that he owned certain portions of this beach to the water's edge at mean low tide, that the property had been assessed to him and that he had paid taxes on it. But the records of the county assessor's office show that no property in this locality in front of the 75 foot lots mentioned has ever been assessed to Mr. West or any other person and taxes have never been paid on it. Mr. West does have a quit claim deed from the lots just mentioned to the low tide line of the Pacific ocean. This quit claim deed was signed on October 4, 1924, and recorded on October 7, 1924. The question is—does that quit claim deed actually convey the beach to private ownership? Was that quit claim deed secured to himself because of the "public spirit" that he mentions?

8. Inspection and investigation and comparison of the public record of the "leaders" who oppose the present location of the board walk is invited with the record of he who sponsors it.

9. Possibly, as stated, the public has not yet started a fight for this beach. Why should it be necessary for them to fight for it? The public has used the beach for more than 40 years. The original and legally recorded maps of the subdivisions concerned show this beach to be public property and it has always been so considered by the county assessors. It is unfortunate that it has become necessary for the public to fight for this beach; but since it is necessary it is hoped that the public (one and all) will fight and fight until the courts have determined for all time their rights in the matter.

10. There seems to be no question as to the moral rights in this matter. The legal rights must be determined by the courts. But your attention is called to the fact that the legal rights of the people to this beach have never been questioned until very recently.

11. You are invited to look up the legal record of the original sales of the property in this district—the sales that have been made by the "leaders" and the "pioneer realtors" of Laguna Beach and see whether these sales were not made by lot and block number. Then refer to the original map and note that most of the lots in question were 25 feet in width by 75 feet in depth. Follow on through the records if you will and note that recently quit claim deeds have been given for these lots and the low tide line—the low tide line of the Pacific ocean. Who gave these quit claim deeds? Who were they to—and what were they for? Instead of a Moses leading his people out of the wilderness after 40 years, it looks as though the people were to be shut off of a beach which they have enjoyed for 40 years.

12. It is not new for those who would help the people to be denounced as demagogues or accused of something other than fair play. But who makes the accusation? Is it the one who profits if the people sleep or remain inactive?

13. It is assuredly to be hoped that the construction of the board walk through this beach which has been used by the public for so many years, and the assuming of private possession of the property behind the walk has not and will not change the rights of either the public or the individuals who purchased the lots 25 by 75 feet in size.

14. The public wants a good board walk. The American public want only what is right. It wants the walk on the real property line.

15. Only two special meetings of the Laguna realty board have been held at which this board walk was discussed. Mr. West, who is a member of the board, and every other member of the board residing in Laguna Beach, was notified of the proposed meetings and of the places where they would be held approximately 24 hours in advance of the meetings. Mr. West attended the first of these two meetings and it was there before the realty board that he stated that he owned certain portions of the beach to the low tide line—that it was by his good graces and the good graces of the other property owners there that the public was permitted on the beach at all—that the beach to the low tide line in front of certain lots was assessed to him and that he had paid taxes on it—and that he intended to build out to the new board walk. These statements did not "set well" and we are not surprised that he failed to attend the second meeting. No secret meetings have been held in this connection by the realty board. The realty board, as a whole, is working for the good of Laguna Beach and Orange county and Southern California. It courts publicity instead of secrecy.

16. We agree that the personal equation should not enter into this matter. So long as the people were left in the full possession of that which they have enjoyed for more than 40 years it did not enter.

17. In conclusion, permit me to say that most of the fights in which I have been engaged during my life have been fights for the people. I now ask that the people go to the records and examine the original maps as recorded when the Laguna townsite and Rogers' additions were placed upon the market—note well the public portions such as streets and parks and beaches—then examine the maps and occupancy of these areas as they exist today—note the streets that have been closed and the changes that have been made and determine who has profited by these changes. Has it been the people who have profited or has it been those instrumental in getting the changes made? Was it in public spirit that prompted the changes? Is the change made by the present board walk prompted by public spirit? Examine the records and form your own conclusions.

FIND MAN ENTOMBED IN CELLAR 8 YEARS

VIENNA, May 1.—The amazing adventure of a Russian soldier who was accidentally imprisoned for eight years in the cellar of a ruined food depot near Vilna was revealed by workmen breaking up the ruins of the building.

He was entombed in the cellar when the depot was blown up hurriedly by the czar's troops in 1917. He was found alive in an indescribable state of dirt, with hair reaching to his waist.

During all the eight years he kept himself alive with food in the cellar, but he died three days after being rescued without saying a word.

Sentence Bandit Within 8 Hours of Bank Holdup

OROVILLE, Calif., May 6.—All records for the speedy administration of justice in Butte county shattered as the result of the capture, trial and conviction of Ernest F. Smith, ex-convict from the Washington state prison, who Monday held up the Bank of Durham near here. Smith was taken to Folsom prison Tuesday to begin the life sentence which he received from Judge H. D. Gregory Monday. The sentence was pronounced just eight hours after the bank was robbed.

Radicals Control French Councils

PARIS, May 6.—Radical Socialists, the party of ex-Premier Edouard Herriot, control the municipal councils in the most important cities of France as a result of Sunday's elections. Final results in 131 of the 385 cities, which constitute capitals of the arrondissements into which the country is divided, show the radicals have a majority in 93 councils, the official Socialists in 15, the dissident Socialists, Briand's group, five, and the Conservatives 68.

The net gain of the radical Socialists is 23. A second ballot will be necessary in many of the remaining capitals.

BETTER TIMES PREDICTED FOR U. S. CATTLEMEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—After suffering longer than any other major farm enterprise from the effects of the general agricultural depression of 1920-21, and from continued overproduction, the beef cattle industry of the United States seems at last definitely moving toward prosperity, it is declared by the U. S. department of agriculture. Evidence of the trend is furnished, not only by the fact that prices of beef cattle this year have been above those of the corresponding period of 1924, but also by signs that the beef cattle business has been liquidated to a point affecting the market for beef.

It is pointed out that the price of beef cattle has advanced in spite of increased slaughtering. This reflects an increased demand for beef. Another favorable factor affecting the market for beef cattle is reduced hog marketing, which means a broader market for beef. Credit conditions are much improved in the range country. Operating expenses on ranches have of necessity been scaled down and the hard conditions of the last few years. Observers also note increased efficiency in the handling of herds.

Upward Trend Seen
There are distinct cycles of high and low prices for beef cattle. The typical cycle is a period of about 14 years. Economists in the department of agriculture believe 1924 saw the low point of a downward swing that began about 1915. Although it is too soon to be sure that the industry is now in the first phase of a long upward trend, the facts point to that conclusion.

In 1922, 1923 and 1924, the beef cattle industry was subjected to the same forces that produced heavy liquidation in other farm enterprises. Liquidation in the range country, however, was retarded by the fact that exceptionally heavy marketing in that period would have been ruinous not only to the cattlemen but to their creditors. In consequence, the beef cattle supply remained large, while surplus of other agricultural products were rapidly being reduced. But toward the end of 1924, it began to be apparent that the cattle supply was steadily being brought into better relation with the demand.

Livestock Credits Improve
Liquidation of the cattle country has paved the way for new ones to be made. The intermediate credit banks alone had $9,000,000 in outstanding loans to livestock loan companies on March 21. They had loaned an additional $12,000,000 to agricultural corporations, partly for livestock raising purposes. Although credit for new range cattle loans is not yet available in unlimited amounts, banking institutions are regarding cattle loans with more confidence and are supplying important help to the range industry. Credit is freely offered for improving the character of breeding herds. New credit facilities are being made available through recently organized national agricultural credit corporations operating under federal charters.

HORSE AND MULE SHORTAGE LOOMS

An acute shortage of horses and mules seems certain within five years, says the U. S. department of agriculture. Unless more horse and mule colts are raised during each of the next five years than were raised in 1924, the number of horses on farms five years from now will be only about 66 per cent of present numbers, and of mules, 74 per cent, it is said.

While present replacements of colts and of young horses and mules are entirely inadequate to cover decreases in the present numbers of work animals, reports coming to the department from various sources indicate that increased breeding and larger colt crops are to be expected. Reports from state stallion registration boards especially emphasize this improved confidence of breeders.

A rather marked advance in horse and mule prices during the last few months indicates that the shortage may already be making itself felt. This may be expected to increase further the interest in horse breeding.

THREE NEW ORANGE COUNTY ARRIVALS

TELLS HOW TO FREE POULTRY OF LICE, MITES

By WILL HATCH
Chairman Poultry Department.

If the farm flock is to be profitable, it must be free from lice and mites.

The mites annoy the birds at night and live in the cracks of the house and perches during the day. They may be discovered by examining the cracks of the house. The mite also leaves a salt and peppery deposit on the perch.

A house infested with mites should be cleaned thoroughly, removing all litter, straw and dust, and washed with a lye solution. The house should be sprayed with a 10 to 20 per cent solution of soluble stock dip disinfectant. A follow-up spray in seven days will kill all the mites which have hatched from the eggs which the adult mites have laid. These eggs are not affected by the spray and so a special spray must be made.

A solution of carbolineum makes the best spray, but stock dip does well and it is already at hand on many farms. Kerosene is good, but it lacks a strong odor which is annoying to the mites.

Lice are more annoying as they infest the birds at all times. Sodium fluoride solution or powder is the most satisfactory method of eliminating them. Sodium fluoride powder is applied to the region around the vent, under each wing, on the back, and on the breast. This must be worked into the base of the feather.

The bird should be dipped in a sodium fluoride solution only in warm weather when there is no danger of the bird chilling. One ounce of powder to one gallon of tepid water is the correct proportion. In dipping it is best to hold the wings over the back with one hand and the feet in the other.

The bird should be pulled through the water so as to allow the solution to penetrate to the skin. The head is submerged once, the bird lifted and allowed to drain a few seconds.

Blue ointment worked into the feathers about the vent is very good in eliminating lice. The ointment may be made by mixing one pound of mercuric salt, one pound of lard and one pound of vaseline.

Lard mixed with a little stock dip disinfectant is good for head lice on little chicks.

950 COUNTY COWS TESTED IN MONTH

The average production of the 928 cows tested during April by the Orange County Cow Testing association totaled 950 pounds of milk, with an average of 37.4 pounds of butterfat.

High herd average under 25 cows went to Mrs. M. Vanderbilt, of Cypress, whose cows produced an average of 48.7 pounds of butterfat.

Mrs. A. Smits, of Talbert, had high herd average under 40 cows, the average being 45.1 pounds of butterfat.

High herd average over 40 cows went to O. J. Segerstrom & Sons, with an average of 40.2 pounds of butterfat. No. 10, the state champion in butterfat production for March, was high cow of the herd last month, with a total of 88.9 pounds of butterfat.

Calves Will Be Exhibited At Big Fair

The Segerstrom family, whose Holstein, No. 10, recently won the state championship in butterfat production, has another cause for elation. Another Holstein, Jessie Mae, has just given birth to triplets. They have been named Mary, Marie and Margaret.

The triplets' mother gave birth last year to twins. She is three years old.

The owners have had several offers to sell the new arrivals, but have declined to part with them. The calves will be exhibited at the county fair here in September.

The Segerstroms have 100 head of cattle on their place, all pure blooded Holsteins. Incidentally, their land is leased for oil to the Standard Oil company.

Mother and infants are doing nicely, thank you.

SEED EXCHANGE PLAN IS POPULAR

MANHATTAN, Kas., May 6.—The plan of holding county seed exchanges for the sale and purchase of approved seed has spread rapidly from Kansas, where it began last year, to several other states.

The report of this plan's rapid success and progress is made by H. R. Sumner, assistant professor in the extension division of the Kansas State Agricultural college here, under whose supervision the seed exchanges were started.

From a beginning of six exchanges last year, Sumner reports, the seed exchange idea grew to 19 this spring in Kansas alone, in which more than 25,000 farmers participated.

"A seed exchange," explains Sumner, "is a cooperative meeting where the man who has seed for sale displays it for the benefit of the man who has to buy seed. Every sample is tested by the college for purity and germination."

"The idea for seed exchanges grew out of the extension project of getting pure seed of an adapted variety readily available throughout the state. By use of the seed exchange, county agents can 'sell' the farmer on an adapted variety of seed, such as Pride of Saline corn, and in response to his query as to where the corn can be bought refer him to a half dozen growers in his own county."

"The purity and germination tests bring home to the farmer the importance of such requirements. While the seller of inferior seed comparing unfavorably with that of a rival, improvement in quality is bound to result."

GRAIN GROWERS TO MEET MAY 16

The fourth annual grain growers field day has been scheduled for Saturday, May 16, according to John Osterman, prominent grain growers of El Toro and a director of the Orange County Farm Bureau. He states that the agricultural extension service will feature a tour through a number of grain fields of El Toro and Capistrano, visiting the variety plots which were established this winter.

The new varieties introduced by the extension service will be examined by the growers on this day to note their progress of growth through the past unfavorable growing season. Among these varieties are the Hero barley, the Oregon Club Marout barley, Four Thousand and Coast Selected.

The ladies of the El Toro Farm center are planning a luncheon for the growers at noon. All members of the farm bureau, as well as others interested in grain are extended an invitation to participate in the tour.

State's Future Told at Meeting

A great spirit of optimism was manifested by members of the California Real Estate association at the third farm lands conference of the association at Stockton recently. The speakers painted the future of California in glowing colors, telling of possibilities in the state, the markets for the products that await development and other reasons for cheerfulness. Realtors of San Joaquin county and Stockton were present in large numbers. The afternoon session was the largest attended session of a land conference ever held by the association.

INCREASE IN BUTTER TARIFF IS REQUESTED

Declaring that the cost of production of butterfat in this country and in Denmark, the principal competing country, warrants the full 50 per cent increase in the tariff under the flexible provision, E. B. Reid, representing the American Farm Bureau federation, joined with the representatives of a number of dairy co-operatives' representatives in petitioning the tariff commission, which is now holding hearings on the subject in Washington, to increase the duty from eight cents, the present rate, to 12 cents a pound.

The commission recently completed a preliminary study of the cost of producing butter and butterfat in this country and in Denmark, and finds there is a spread of much more than the 12 cents, the amount to which it is proposed to raise the tariff. The study shows the cost of producing butterfat in the co-operative, independent and centralized territory in the middle west last year averaged about 61.5 cents per pound. In the independent and centralized territory in which the costs were gathered, they averaged as high as 66.8 cents and

PLAN TO HOLD EIGHT CITRUS SESSIONS SOON

A series of eight field demonstrations has been scheduled by the agricultural extension service, according to announcement from the farm advisor's office, to begin Monday, May 11, and continue every day during the remainder of the week.

The control of the principal diseases affecting citrus trees, including scaly bark, gummosis and oak root fungus, will be featured at these meetings.

Inarching of gopher injured Anaheim; May 13, 2 p. m., Fullerton; May 14, 2 p. m., Tustin; May 15, 10 a. m., Villa Park; May 15, trees will also be demonstrated where specimen trees can be secured.

Scaly Bark Common.
Scaly bark is one of the most common diseases in citrus grove and, because of its slow action, has not been considered of much consequence by many growers. It is, however, one of the most serious diseases which the citrus tree encounters because of its persistence and stubbornness. It is said. Unless early control measures are taken, it becomes very difficult to control the disease efficiently. Probably no other disease in the orchard causes a greater loss to the growers of the county than scaly bark.

The most effective methods of controlling these diseases will be demonstrated.

List of Meetings.
The meetings will be held in the following districts, the exact locations to be announced later: May 11, 2 p. m., Garden Grove; May 12, 10 a. m., Buena Park; May 12, 2 p. m., La Habra; May 13, 10 a. m., 2 p. m., Yorba Linda.

BOY BEGS TO BE SHOT
MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., May 5.—Herbert Jones, 17-year-old schoolboy, begged a police sergeant to shoot him and end the pain resulting from a mangled foot. He fell from a train while stealing a ride. The foot was amputated later.

In the so-called co-operative territory 59.7 cents. The price paid for butterfat in a large part of Denmark was figured at 43.7 cents, a discrepancy in the cost of producing butterfat of 23.1 cents in favor of Denmark.

The study showed that the farmers have not been getting the cost of production in butterfat in either country, but that they came very close to it in Denmark.

Wheat and Corn Prices Declared Below Estimates

That reports of $2 wheat and dollar corn last fall and winter were mostly "talk" is shown in figures just released by the Illinois Agricultural association, which were compiled from comparative business data assembled by its department of co-operative elevators in Illinois during 1924. The $2 actually netted Illinois farmers, after it was delivered to their local elevators, $1.11 a bushel; corn, 83 cents, and oats, 44 cents, according to the association.

CRYER'S RE-ELECTION

All California watched the campaign that was made in Los Angeles; all California was interested in the reports received today showing that Mayor Cryer had been re-elected.

The re-election is significant. It is significant of the fact that the most potent campaign slogan that a candidate in California can have is "Water and Power." It was this slogan that swept Congressman Phil D. Swing to an overwhelming victory last August.

"Re-elect Cryer; protect your water and power" appeared on billboards of Los Angeles during the campaign that ended with yesterday's election, Mayor Cryer receiving more votes at the primary than were cast for all of his opponents combined. None need be surprised if the water and power slogan elects the next governor of California.

The Los Angeles election is significant in that it probably puts an end to the gubernatorial ambitions of Judge Bledsoe. Bledsoe resigned from the federal bench in order to run for mayor of Los Angeles. It was frequently stated, and never denied, that the mayorality was to be but a stepping stone; that Bledsoe would take the Democratic nomination for governor. Counting on a bitter fight in the Republican primaries between Richardson and the anti-Richardson forces, and hoping for substantial support from the losing side, Bledsoe's friends could see themselves escorting him into the corner room at the capitol.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Mayor Cryer came out definitely in favor of furthering a program for municipal development of water and power, including the use of the Colorado river. He went so far as to proclaim his advocacy of an all-American canal in connection with that development. Advocacy of an all-American canal, to the Los Angeles Times, is like waving a red flag in the face of a vicious bull.

Bledsoe is a man of high standing, character and ability. In the Los Angeles fight, however, the sinister support of the Times made the alignment plain. Bledsoe was plainly the candidate of the Times and its corporate crowd, which crowd is bent upon destroying public ownership, hopeful of turning over the great Owens river system to public service corporations, audaciously lined up to use the influence of Los Angeles to help out Harry Chandler's rapacious scheme to attach the waters of the Colorado river to the Chandler syndicate's lands in Mexico rather than allow those waters to be used to irrigate American lands in Imperial valley.

Bledsoe went down to defeat. Cryer's re-election, therefore, became a ratification by Los Angeles city of plans for the development of the Colorado river for water and power.

The Modern Woodmen of America has an excellent set of principles upon which its existence and its work are founded. Its influences are for the betterment of every community in which it has a camp located.

It is to be hoped and expected that the Woodmen will enjoy their stay in Santa Ana. Certain it is that the hand of good fellowship is offered to them and the glad greetings is theirs.

The Woodmen are looking ahead to further achievements, to the spreading of the organization's influence. It believes in progress of a true kind. Its loyalty is unquestioned. We are glad to have an organization of that sort come to Santa Ana any time, and we are especially pleased with having the Woodmen among us.

A YEAR'S SERVICE

The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. has completed a year's service in its new building.

No one can measure the value of that year's service. What lessons of citizenship it has taught, what spirit of devotion it has inculcated, what ideals and ideas it has fixed in youthful minds, what character it has moulded—these are things that cannot be measured in money nor in any other human commodity.

The Y. M. C. A. has made consistent, capable use of the building. The wisdom of its construction was long since demonstrated. By a year's service, this building has proven itself to be a distinct community asset. Its usefulness will grow, and on down through the ages its influence will be felt; it will be felt in the lives of the thousands of young people who have come in contact with the work of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. during the past twelve months.

CITRUS TRIUMPHANT!

Without any figures at hand, it may be safely assumed that more acres of orange groves are being planted in Southern California than are being eliminated from the total acreage by the extension of subdivisions, by the uprooting of trees or by abandonment. Certainly this is true of Orange County. On the Irvine ranch alone, during the past two years, more acres of Valencia have been planted than have been eliminated from the total acreage in the county by all causes. Moreover, orange grove acreage is being increased in Louisiana, Florida and Texas, as well as in Northern California.

In view of these facts, it is gratifying to note the apparent success of the Brogden system of preparing fruit for shipment. This system subjects the fruit to liquid treatment which destroys all germs which would cause the fruit to decay, and this treatment is followed by a bath in a paraffin solution which seals the pores of the peeling and prevents evaporation of the oils and juices of the fruit.

It is reasonable to suppose that as this system of treatment is perfected and tested it will make practicable the shipment of fruit by water to foreign countries, thus greatly extending the markets, and will also materially cut the cost of shipment, as experiments have already shown that Brogdened fruit can be shipped across the continent without icing.

Thus we find, as we have found for the past 40 years, that whenever we seem to be approaching the limit of consumption of citrus fruits the way opens for the extension of markets, both in territory and per capita consumption.

For many years the citrus fruit industry of Southern California has been its biggest productive asset, and there is every reason to believe that it will continue to head the list of our revenue producing crops.

Work For Vice-Presidents

Bakersfield Californian.
Whether or not he can accomplish any good for the people in his battle with the United States Senate over the rules of that dignified body, Vice-President Dawes is keeping them interested. If he can manage to hold the front pages of the newspapers with the same skill that marked former President Roosevelt and some other public officials he will at least have made the vice-presidency one of the outstanding offices of the land. The American people are never too busy or too tired to listen to some one who has something to say. In the past our vice-presidents have had too little to say and it is almost unique that we now have a man in that department of the federal government who believes in thinking for himself and telling his fellow citizens what he thinks.

When Mr. Coolidge was vice-president the people knew very little about him except that he once served as governor of Massachusetts and had used the "big stick" in settling a strike of Boston policemen. Since he became President they have learned very little more, except that he can't get along with the legislative department and that his qualifications for leadership are not promising.

But if Mr. Dawes pursues his present course he is bound to cast a strong light upon himself and his qualifications for public service. In that way his fellow Americans will be enabled to form a fairly accurate estimate as to whether he is entitled to promotion or retirement and act accordingly when the occasion presents itself. Then, too, there is always the possibility that some irate member of the Senate may tell us something that Mr. Dawes forgot to mention and that will add considerably to the store of useful knowledge of the electorate.

So it is to be hoped that in future the vice-president will always be in his place, on the firing line, ready to give and take, and that there will be no cry for quarter until a decisive victory has been scored.

Mother of Inventions

Sacramento Bee.
Necessity, according to the old proverb, was the mother of invention.

This is true of Germany, judged by reports of new inventions coming from that country, including the rotorship, views of which have furnished some striking pictures for the news reels recently, and a fourteen horsepower "aero-dynamo" to be run by wind.

This latter invention has so interested the British minister of agriculture that a demonstration has been arranged in England.

In a recent book, J. B. S. Haldane, the British scientist wrote:
Personally, I think that 400 years hence the power question in England may be solved somewhat as follows: The country will be covered with rows of metallic windmills, working electric motors, which in their turn will supply current of a very high voltage to great electric mains.

In view of the German invention, this prophecy may come true much sooner than the author expected.

Great and marvelous as has been the advance in the knowledge and use of electric current in modern life, it is probably we are only on the threshold of new and more varied ways of employing this force whose inner constitution still remains as mysterious as life itself.

Era of Prosperity

San Jose Mercury-Herald.
That the United States is enjoying a period of prosperity was emphasized by the report made by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to President Coolidge.

The United States is the only nation in the world showing a substantial gain in business affairs. Figures submitted by Secretary Hoover show that the exports in March were valued at $452,000,000—imports at $385,000,000—leaving a trade balance in Uncle Sam's favor of $67,000,000.

Recognition Well Earned

Modesto News-Herald.
Charles Saunders, who made possible Marquis wheat, is pensioned at $5000 a year by the Canadian government.

This is unusual. Few discoverers and inventors get more than that out of years of work. Yet it is cheap for the Canadians. The government can easily afford the $5000 a year from the increased taxes paid by the men who cashed in on Saunders labors.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

DISEASE GERMS

Micro-organisms of any pathogenic bacteria cause vital diseases of many kinds. The germs or bacteria which get into your system are the living plant agents which cause various kinds of poisons to attack and destroy your blood cells and tissue cells. Your ability or strength to ward off or resist these virulent germ poisons by hygienic living conditions, constitutes your hold on health.

In other words, you are being attacked almost every minute of the day by these little germ bandits who try to enter your body and rob you of your health. They thrive in bad drinking water, in polluted soil, in foul air, unclean food, scratches and slight wounds, and through direct contact in what are called the catching and contagious diseases.

To steer clear of their attack, you must be on your guard all the time.

Keep your teeth and mouth clean. The high-powered microscope will show you strange inhabitants. Bathe at least once a week, twice is better and once during some part of every 24 hours will do you no harm.

Choose your food for the best health-building values, within the limits of your purse, not forgetting green vegetables, fruit, milk and its products. Keep your hands clean, when putting anything in your mouth. Avoid coughing and sneezing in public.

Take fresh air and sunlight in large doses, at every opportunity. Do not let garbage or other waste accumulate on your premises, to invite contamination, flies or other vermin, which breed and spread germs.

Sentiment Still Worth
More Than Money

Sacramento Bee

The estate of John F. Dodge, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, includes a very large acreage of agricultural land located near Rochester, Mich.

Practically in the center is a farm of 220 acres, owned by Thomas Barnett, cultivated by himself and his children.

Repeatedly the Dodge heirs have sought to purchase this tract. They have offered Barnett sums far in excess of its actual worth, but he has refused to part with the title, saying:

"I am happy on the land. Why should I sell?"

Barnett is now eighty-two years of age. He came to America from England sixty-three years ago, soon afterward establishing himself on the soil which is now his home in his old age.

His children were born there. He planted the trees which have made of his home a beauty spot.

In it center everything that to him has made life worth living. The shadows of the evening Barnett can see approaching. Where better await that summons than on this spot endeared by toil and effort and enriched by memories of love and happiness?

There still are some things that money cannot buy, and whose values can not be measured in dollars and cents.

DREAM SHIP

There's a Dream Ship out on a starry sea;
I wait on the shore—will it come to me?
The waves are blue and the waves are green,
With white, white breakers in between!

There'll be treasure rare in the shining hold—
Joy sans jewels, and love sans gold!
O ship, let your small boat down, for see—
I wait to learn what your cargoes be!

The ship goes by, on the starry sea,
I am here on the shore. It was not for me.
The waves are blue, and the waves are green,
With white, white breakers in between.

It is cold on the shore, and the night is late.
O the hours—the hours that we watch and wait!
But I tell my heart, for the stars still shine,
That the next bright Dream Ship may be mine!

Tom Sims Says

Only a short time now until we will be too sick to work and too well to stay home from fishing.

No telling what you could hear every day with the energy you spend talking about nothing.

Another sign of spring is when the small boy hides the rake and the carpet beater.

It might help if we worried less about what we are after here and more about what we are hereafter.

Doctor news today. Sickness costs $1,500,000,000 yearly in the United States. Isn't worth it.

Only thing you can tell by some watches is what time it isn't. Coolidge is so quiet we are thinking about inviting him to go fishing with us.

Time to Smile

PLENTY OF THEM

Hubby had fallen down the steps and his wife was anxiously bending over him.

"Oh, Tom, did you miss a step?" she inquired with much concern.

"No," he growled; "I hit 'em all."—Answers, London.

"You should think of the future."

"I can't. It's my girl's birthday and I have to think of the present."—Boston Transcript.

Little Benny's
Note Book

by Lee Pope

We were having joggerty in school and I was whispering to Raymin Levy across the aisle on account of him being the nearest one to whisper to, and Miss Kitty knocked on her desk with the wrong end of her pencil, saying, Silents please.

Meaning me, and I stopped whispering and pritty soon I turned around to ask Puds Simpkins what he was going to do after school in case it mite be something I mite feel like doing with him, and Miss Kitty sed, Benny Potts, stand up.

Which I did, and she sed, Now, Ill let you be your own judge. Silpoose you were a teacher and one of your pupils existed in whispering and turning around and disturbing the quiet of the classroom, wat would you do?

Id tell him to stop and if he didnt stop the first time I told him Id warn him not to do it agen, and if he didnt stop the 2nd time Id tell him he better be carefil, I sed.

And silpoose he wasent carefil, as you call it, even after all those repeated admonitions, wat then? Miss Kitty sed.

Then Id wait a while and see if he would stop by himself, and if he didnt Id speak to him agen, I sed.

Well you would certenly make a patient teacher according to your own story, but to make a painfully long story short, wat would you do if he persisted even after the 20th time, or the 50th time, watever the last time was? Miss Kitty sed.

Id send him home for the rest of the day, I sed.

Then thats wate you and I are diffrent, because Im going to keep you in jess one hole hour after school, Miss Kitty sed.

Which she did, proving people dont listen to your advice even after they ask you for it unless you tell them wat they want you to.

The Patchwork Quilt

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT.
(Have you any patches to add to it?)

ON MOTHER'S DAY
Oh it's dark is the night
And lonely is the day
And lonely the years since you
went far away.
Friends may be loving
And friends may be true
But no one on earth is a friend
quite like you.

No one will sorrow
When everything's wrong;
No one rejoice when life moves like a song.
None can be laughing,
None can be gay.
With the light-hearted spirit that governed your day,

Nowhere is comfort,
And nowhere is rest
Like the days when I buried my head on your breast.
For though you were weary
And though you were worn,
You paused to bring cheer to a child all forlorn.

So though dark be the night
And long be the day
And lonely the years since you
went far away,
The cheer of your presence,
The warmth of your smile
Has glowed like a flame in my heart all the while.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE
GRAY HOUSE

It has long been a matter for regret that one of the two young walnut trees out in front of the Little Gray House has been so indolent that long after neighboring trees are out in full leaf, that lazy little tree has loafed along and remained shamelessly exposing its delicate gray branches without a sign of a new spring frock.

But now none of us care, for the very leaflessness aided us in watching something so lovely. We had left a tiny trickle of water running from the hose to give the little lazy-bones a drink. The trench thus filled with water formed an ideal swimming pool, according to the fancy of Mr. and Mrs. Oriole. And what a glorious bath they had! One would go in, splash the water amazingly, and then fly up just a few feet from our interested gaze, where, fluttering wings and ruffled feathers would aid in the sunning process while the other half of the sketch was splashing in the pool.

Mr. Oriole was a gay and gallant beau. His feathers were so brilliantly yellow and the black on his round little poll was so extreme black. His wife was quite modest so far as outer apparel was concerned. Her feathers were an inconspicuous gray, but she was truly and delightfully feminine, for way underneath the dull outer seeming of her garb, was the gleam of yellow, which showed her luxury loving soul, a soft mat of gold down much as a quakerish little bare headpiece, where, fluttering wings and ruffled feathers would aid in the sunning process while the other half of the sketch was splashing in the pool.

Anyway, we enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Oriole and were resigned at last to the little old slowpoke of a tree which yawns and stretches over getting up out of bed and dressing in the spring, as a sleepy school girl does.

From Nemo comes a whimsical continuation of her last week on BUSES

"If 'Buss' means kiss, then 'Robus' must mean to kiss again—A syllabus, when ladies kiss—(Dan Cupid giggles then!) A barbeque is noisy. You'll note the prefix, 'hark'—An erebus, as you should know, is kissing in the dark.

An omnibus suggests a scene When kissing looks like work; You've simply got to kiss all round Without a chance to shirk. A blunderbuss explains itself—It's awkward, don't you know, To kiss another fellow's girl—No doubt you've found it so.

Will someone translate "pluribus"? For now you have the key—"This very much like 'rebus,' Bill purges so, don't you see! It's singular, 'tis plural, But that is just the case, And like the other 'busses,' Is proper in its place."
—NEMO.

CROSS PATCH comes back, saucy as ever, with: Dear Patchwork Lady, use your own judgment on this one:

The young school marm had given a very delightful talk on the sacredness and beauty of Mother's Day, intending to impress her young charges.

She did successfully. Finally she asked: "Now, can anyone name a mother's song that we could sing?" One round-eyed little cherub could hardly restrain his eagerness to be the first to name the song: "Oh, teacher, let's sing 'Red Hot Mama!'"

CROSS PATCH

Dear Patchwork Lady: They tried at the Rotary club luncheon, Tuesday, to fine Walter Vandermost for turning out in a new straw hat "ahead of the season." They insisted that the straw hat season doesn't open until May 13. But Walter convinced Chairman Bill Spurgeon that the straw hat season was open "now" and that May 13 is the last day of grace for felt hats.

Anyway, Walter's new hat, being the first straw, calls to mind a new version of an old story, entitled "The Lost Straw":

An Irishman coming out of either in the ward after an operation, exclaimed audibly:

"Thank God! That's over!" "Don't be too sure," said the man in the next bed, "they left a sponge in me and had to cut into me again." And the patient on the other side said: "Why, they had to open me, too, to find one of their instruments."

Just then the surgeon who had operated on the Irishman stuck his head in the door and yelled: "HAS ANYBODY SEEN MY HAT?"

Pat faints.

MOTHER

By Mary Carolyn Davies

Mother!

The gray-haired mother, whose successful sons and happy daughters bring flowers and love—

The young girl-wife, with her first baby in her arms, struggling against poverty and fear and want, but keeping the six patched and mended in school, and the baby clean—

The mother in the shack on the prairie, in the homestead on the range, in the mountains far from church or neighbors, who becomes church and neighbors and civilization to her children—

The average mother of the average family, with the average amount of bills and worries over Johnny's measles and Mary's beads—

Mother!

May Providence strengthen them to go on with high hearts for another year—when we will again bear loving gifts of white carnations or, if far from them, send our grateful telegrams.

Mother! God bless them—From the Delineator for May.

OF THE TWINS

NO. 3—THE STORK TALKS HIMSELF WELL

"You were asking about my relations," said the lame stork in Doctor Bill's hospital. "I'll tell you about them if you are sure you won't get tired listening. There are a great many."

"Oh, no," said Nick politely. "We won't get tired. It's interesting to know about birds we never see."

"You may see some of my relatives in the Zoo, I am sorry to say," remarked the stork. "But not all. Well, I shall begin."

"First of all there is Billy Blue Heron. He is not as particular about the place he lives as we storks are. You may find him anywhere near water, almost. He likes to eat fish—and I am afraid he is in disgrace a lot of the time as he eats the children of birds also. We are not so proud of Billy in our family, so we aren't—although I heard one time that he had received a medal for eating more rats and mice than any other bird."

"Billy isn't always blue sometimes he has green on him, and black. But he has a big brother who is enormous. He is as large as I am and wears a black crown. He is very handsome."

"Is that all?" asked Nancy. "My, no!" said the stork, shifting from one leg to the other. "I haven't finished with the herons."

"Go on," nodded Doctor Bill. "So the stork continued. 'We have another queen cousin who is called the purple heron. And what do you think he does?'

"Fishes at night," said the stork calmly, "and sleeps all day. Must have gotten his dates mixed up. He has eyes like a cat—or an owl. He's a beauty, too! As purple as an Easter egg. But speaking of Easter eggs. There is still another cousin of ours of whom we are very proud. He is not only very big, but he has all the colors of the rainbow. He is called the Goliath Heron."

"And then," sighed the st
